A MAGIC CARPET OF WISDOM AND JOY—THE ZOO!

Brookfield a World for All to Roam.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

This must be an enchanted woods, with almost anything to be expected around the corner, although it is called the Chicago Zoölogical park, or the Brookfield zoo. In an attitude of childhood wonder we may spend a day off there and be transported on a magic carpet from the thorn covered hills of the White Nile to the Red sea and from the arctic ice floes to the jungles of the Amazon.

There is vibrant, whistling, singing, lunging, playful and brooding life, the miracle of life, whether expressed in a blade of grass or in the huge swaying form of Nancy, the Ceylon elephant who is placidly awaiting a baby in the spring.

Prairie Becomes a Garden.

Where there was a prairie five years ago there are now, just fourteen miles southwest of the Chicago loop, 134 acres of park and simulated jungle, rock hills, formal avenues, picnic areas, a lilac plantation, a lily pond, a wild fowl lake, barless rock pits, pools, and dens for wild creatures, monkeytown, a special children's playground, and a variety of park buildings.

There are housed 600 mammals, or animals that nourish their young with milk; 2,000 birds and 600 reptiles, under conditions that approach their native environment.

Jungle Lady Artful and Wise.

Tia, the fat and lazy orangutan from the dense jungles of Sumatra, where the rubber trees grow, has a look of shrewdness. Intelligence is half awake in her. She treated her late husband shamefully. He was bigger than she, but she cuffed him and scolded him and sent him to bed in a cold corner uncomfortable. She arranged all the sacking and straw for herself, and put all the fruit and vegetables within her easy reach for a snack in the night if she wished. He died at last of distaste with life.

Man Can Look and Learn.

"They do not sweat and whine about their condition;
They do not lie awake in the dark and weep for their sins;
Not one is respectable or industrious over the whole earth."

A faulty doctrine this, perhaps, but one strangely comforting to modern man. It is good medicine to go to a zoo and look at the animals, wondering with Whitman:

"Did I pass that way huge times ago, and negligently drop them?
Myself moving forward then and now and forever?"

The zoo, which is an educational institution as well as an entertainment park, has searched the world for living specimens to supplement the books and the fossil story of man. It is a book of the living, which was opened for a few pages at least by more than two million people last year.

Live Together in Harmony.

There are some birds with heavy killing beaks that have to be segregated in a sort of zoo Alcatraz, but on the whole animals, birds, and reptiles live serenely in captivity. The birds and the antelope have a hawthorn grove all to themselves. The giant eland, almost gone from nature, wanders over the hills from the Upper Nile for your diversion. The latest chimpanzee mother shows you her baby. The peacock startles you with a wild cry. The bears beg 800 pounds of peanuts on a Sunday. Mei Mei, the funny little giant panda, whines and asks to be scratched on the back.

The regal python, weaving its head as if it were making a forest kill, while living in amity with the tiny garter snake, is an attraction of great interest. So are the stupid penguins and the lizards. But the majority of visitors like the primates, of which man is the senior species, or the reptiles, which precede both birds and mammals on the tree of life.

Trains, street cars, and autos carry thousands daily to the Brookfield zoo. From the loop, the north, the west, and the south sides main thoroughfares offer easy access to this modern wonderland.

WOMEN GUESTS HELPLESS; YACHT WITHOUT A PILOT

Two men lost their lives in Lake Michigan yesterday as the six women and two boys of their yachting party looked on in helpless confusion.

Both men were good swimmers and might have been saved if any one of the eight persons had known how to start the auxiliary motor and maneuver the boat.

Her husband was Julian Shapps, 28 years old, an optometrist living at 1062 Bryn Mawr avenue. The other man who drowned was Frank J. Arnold, 53 years old, owner of the boat and head of an ink company and a wax refining firm with offices at 633 Plymouth court. He was a widower who lived aboard his boat, the Kildee III.

Woman Describes Drownings.

The sailing party left Belmont harbor at 11:30 a. m. Four miles east of the harbor Arnold decided to change the course from northeast to south. The lake was calm, with only a very light breeze.

The story of what happened was told by Miss Fannie Grodnick, 30 years old, of 1062 Bryn Mawr avenue, a friend of Arnold. Because she knew more about the boat than the others, Arnold had called her the first mate.

"Mr. Arnold said he was going to raise the mainsail," she said. "As he loosened the mast a sudden breeze caught the partly raised sail and the boom knocked him overboard.

"We threw over four life preservers and he caught hold of one. We pulled him within six feet of the boat. Suddenly he let go and sank."

Rescuer Dives from Boat.

Shapps dived in after him.

"I don't think he ever reached Mr. Arnold," Miss Grodnick said. "Then Shapps sank, too. It was horrible."

Other members of the party said Arnold shouted to the women to start the auxiliary motor even while he was struggling to keep afloat. None of the party could respond.

Had they known how, they could have run down the stairs into the engine room and stepped on the starter. Once the engine was running they could have steered with the wheel on deck and kept the boat circling until the men could be pulled to safety. As it was, the boat continued to sail on its course, drawing away from the drowning men.

Body of One Recovered.

Persons on the other sailboats that dotted the water came to the rescue. Martin Larsen climbed aboard from his boat, stopped the Kildee III., and tried to calm the panic-stricken women. Donald Ritholz and Herbert Fried of the sailing boat Sparkler recovered Arnold's body. Boatswain's Mate R. R. Chayne and his coast guard crew searched in vain for the body of Shapps.

Dr. Charles Brunkow said it was possible Arnold had not drowned but had died of a heart attack from the exertion of his struggle in the water.

Sailors said they believed Shapps was struck by the boat and stunned so that he sank.

Shapps' widow, Betty, 28 years old, was prostrated by the tragedy. Others of the party were Miss Jean Loftspring, 27, of 3746 Pine Grove avenue; Miss Jeanette Isenson, 30, of 4752 Virginia avenue; Miss Lillian St. Clair, 27, of 1250 Albion avenue; Mrs. Blanche Cheek of 1345 Estes avenue; her son, William, 9, and Elton Stevens, 12, who lives in the same building as the Cheeks.

Brings Woolen Underwear for July Visit in Missouri

Kansas City, Mo., July 30 (AP).—No one in Sheffield, England, could convince Mrs. Betsy Gordon, 63, it would be hot in Kansas City in July. City Sightseer Plane Crashes; Nine Injured

The pilot, Gilbert Grimm, 33 years old, 4739 65th street, was injured critically. Eight of the passengers were injured less seriously. Four escaped with scratches. One of these was Suzanne Walsh, 15 months old.

The flight, for which the passengers paid $1.50 each, was a regular sightseeing trip conducted by the Bluebird Air Service, Inc., 5126 West 63d street, operator of the plane.

Motor Fails After Takeoff.

Passengers and other witnesses said the ship climbed smoothly after the takeoff until it reached an altitude of 500 feet. Then, they said, the left motor failed. Grimm sought to keep the plane level, but it lost altitude and he brought it down in a field on 47th street, two blocks west of Cicero avenue. This is about a mile north of the airport.

The plane landed on its left wing and then groundlooped, tearing out the motors and hurling Grimm onto the grass fifteen feet away. He had cut off the ignition and there was no fire.

Grimm, who suffered a possible skull fracture and a broken jaw, was taken to County hospital. He was still unconscious late last night. The passengers were wearing their safety belts at the time of the crash. This was credited with protecting them from greater injury.

Eight Others Injured.

In addition to Grimm, those injured are:

Gordon Brown, 12 years old, 2512 West 110th street; James F. Walsh, 37, of 7548 Rhodes avenue; his cousin, Martin Walsh, 27, of 313 Monroe street, Gary; Mrs. Catherine Walsh, 50, of Butte, Mont., the mother of Martin Walsh and the aunt of James Walsh; Mrs. Elizabeth Fleming, 50, of Butte, Mont.; Joseph Luby, 19, of 5953 Union avenue; Earl Thompson, 19, of 5800 Peoria street, and Henry Kamienski, 29, of 3228 North Drake avenue. Young Brown was thrown from the plane with Grimm.

Those who escaped with scratches are:

Mrs. Edyth Walsh, 30 years old, wife of James F. Walsh, and their two daughters, Marilyn, 7 years old, and Suzanne, 15 months, and F. J. Garr, 5026 Barry avenue.

George Zollar, assistant manager of the Bluebird service, said he was unable to account for the crash.

He said the plane, which had been in service since 1934, had been overhauled recently and was relicensed July 10 after passing inspection by the federal department of air commerce.

Zollar said eight inspectors from the federal Civil Aeronautics authority examined the wreckage after the crash and that the investigation would be continued today.

MORE THAN 100 OCEAN AIR TRAVELERS VISIT N. Y. PORT IN ONE DAY

Port Washington, N. Y., July 30 (AP).—This Long Island town became a Grand Central of international passenger aviation today, with more than 100 persons moving through it incident to arrivals of six and departures of four ocean planes. The Dixie Clipper arrived from the Azores with ten passengers and eleven crew members and left for Baltimore, Md.; the Yankee Clipper left for Southampton, England, with a record passenger list of thirty and crew of twelve; the Bermuda Clipper arrived from Bermuda with twenty-four passengers and seven crew members and left for Baltimore. Among the other ocean planes was the French survey plane, Ville de St. Pierre, which arrived from the Azores with a crew of nine.

PAL OF CAPONE, ONCE RICH, HELD; DIME IN POCKET

New York, July 30 (AP).—In 1929 Peter De Vito, a schoolboy chum of Al Capone in Brooklyn, made half a million dollars. He had a $60,000 home. Four thousand men, including some of the toughest gunmen in town, worked for him.

Today De Vito was arrested for assaulting a relative in a quarrel over a few dollars. He had 10 cents in his pocket and his clothes were shabby. For two years he had been living in a little room above a restaurant where he worked for rent and board and tips. Before that he had been seen cadging pennies in a subway station.

When he was 30 Pete bought a truck at the urging of Capone and other friends. By 1929 he had 700 trucks.

Federal investigators reported that his income in 1929 was $503,000, of which $250,000 came from a corporation for which he supplied trucks and men to break a strike. He did similar jobs for other big corporations.

Spain Orders All to Work 15 Days for State

BY SAM BREWER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MADRID, Spain, July 30.—Full details of Generalissimo Francisco Franco's order that every able bodied Spaniard must labor for the state fifteen days a year without pay or give a cash sum in lieu of work as part of his duty as a citizen to speed reconstruction were published today.

Every Spaniard is ordered to register for labor duty before the end of August under penalty of fines up to $200 or imprisonment for three months plus double labor duty afterward. The order will amount in most cases to 4 per cent extra income tax, but the maximum is set at $37.50 annually.

May Be Farmed Out.

If government projects in any district do not need all the men available, they may be farmed out to private contractors who will pay the wages to the state instead of to the laborers concerned.

Persons unwilling or unable to give their labor will pay cash — fifteen days' pay at the rate they are paid in their own jobs. The maximum is set at $2.50 daily. The minimum is set at fifteen times the average daily pay for labor in the district.

This return to the medieval system of "corvee" — compulsory labor on public works—is part of the Nationalist government's program to spend $250,000,000 within ten years in repairing war damage to roads, bridges, and other public works, as well as expanding the road system.

Most Will Give Cash.

The free labor is intended to make the money go further and get the work done faster. Wherever possible each man will work at the task in which he is skilled, but it is presumed that most persons, with the exception of laborers, will pay the tax instead of giving their labor.

Owners of trucks and other equipment must lend them to the government as part of their contribution.

An inspector and corps of assistants are appointed in each province for drafting a complete register of all available workers by Oct. 1. The scheme must be ready for operation by the end of October.

Any person reporting another Spaniard for any effort to escape compulsory labor will be rewarded by exemption from his own labor duty. Double that amount of time will be added to the time the slacker must give as a penalty. If any accusation is found false, the accuser must give double the work.

Farmer Kills Chief; 9 Shot in Barn Battle

Cynthiana, Ky., July 30 [Special].—Besieged in his barn most of last night after he had killed Police Chief George M. Dickey, 77 years old, Charles Allen, a retired farmer, 70 years old, escaped in a fog early this morning.

Arrow marks end of trail taken by bloodhounds tracking killer.

Before Allen got away from a posse of police, deputy sheriffs and townsmen, he wounded nine men with buckshot which he fired intermittently during the night.

When possemen rushed Allen's barn at dawn and found he had escaped, bloodhounds were put on his trail. The dogs lost the trail three miles south of Cynthiana where the Lexington highway joins the Louisville and Nashville railroad right of way.

Police Investigate Complaint.

Patrolman Roy Fightmaster and Chester Harp went to Allen's home, three blocks from the police station, at 8:30 o'clock last night to investigate a neighbor's complaint that Allen had a young girl in his home in the absence of his wife. Previous complaints had been made to police about his association with young girls.

The policemen heard voices in the Allen barn and peeking through a crack they saw Allen and an unidentified girl in the back seat of his car with the dome light on.

Then the patrolmen went to the barn door where they saw Allen with a revolver pointed at them. Harp went back to headquarters for instructions and Fightmaster concealed himself in bushes in an adjoining vacant lot and watched. Soon he saw a girl flee from the barn and run down an alley.

The watching policeman did not see Allen leave the barn, but he reached his house unnoticed in the darkness.

Two Gun Charges Hit Chief.

A few minutes later Harp returned with Police Chief Dickey. When the chief started to get out of the car Allen appeared on his front porch and fired two shots from a shotgun. Both hit Dickey, who died before reaching a hospital. Then Allen fired a third shot at Harp, but missed.

While police were getting reinforcements Allen ran from his home to his barn fifty feet away. About this time Mrs. Allen returned home from a shopping trip. Allen was firing his shotgun every time he heard a noise outside the barn and it was these scattered shots which wounded the nine men, only one seriously.

Police Use Loud Speaker.

Police then set up a public address loud speaker and turned searchlights upon the barn. Allen was asked repeatedly to surrender and each time replied with more shots. Next Mrs. Allen took the microphone.

"Come on out, Charley," she said. "You haven't a chance." The reply was still more shots.

Toward dawn a heavy fog surrounded the Allen barn and the searchlights were turned out. Possemen had not heard a shot for more than an hour and, believing Allen had been hit or was out of ammunition, they charged on the barn through the fog. Allen was gone.

Mrs. Allen, 65 years old, said her husband must have had a shotgun, rifle, and revolver when he fled.

CONGRESS JAM BRINGS CRISIS FOR ROOSEVELT

2 of Pet Measures Are Threatened.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 30.—President Roosevelt will return from his week-end fishing trip tomorrow morning to face the most serious crisis of his entire administration.

The only new piece of legislation he has submitted to this congress—the three billion dollar lending and spending bill—has been whittled to the bone. What remains of this bill and of the 800 million dollar housing bill are caught in a legislative jam that threatens the failure of both measures.

In addition the administration is threatened with amendment of the minimum wage and maximum hour law. The amendment is designed to exempt a million wage earners from its provisions and otherwise to ease provisions that have proved detrimental to many groups of workers and several sections of the country, notably the south and Porto Rico.

Faces Split in Party.

Outstanding in the situation confronting the President upon his return to his desk is the disorganization of the Democratic party and its impotence up to date to carry out the administration program despite the overwhelming Democratic majority in both houses. Speaker William B. Bankhead [D., Ala.] and Majority Leader Sam Rayburn [D., Tex.] in the house, and Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley [D., Ky.] in the senate have been unable to put through the legislation desired by Mr. Roosevelt.

A steadily increasing faction of the Democratic party now is openly aligned with the Republicans in opposition to the continuation of New Deal panaceas. For the first time in the incumbency of Mr. Roosevelt the Democratic members of the house in a caucus Friday night refused to bind themselves to support of administration measures—the lending and spending and the housing bills.

Leaders to Face President.

On the presidential carpet at the White House tomorrow forenoon will be Speaker Bankhead and the other Democratic leaders in congress to explain to the President why they have been unable to deliver the goods and what the prospects are of wresting some modicum of victory from defeat. It will be the regular Monday session of the President and the Democratic congressional leaders.

If the Democratic leaders are unable to turn the tide of opposition to pending New Deal legislation in the next few days they are expected to throw up the sponge and consent to a speedy windup of the session by next Saturday night. If they succeed in overcoming immediate obstacles the session might be prolonged to Aug. 12.

While the senate is preparing to pass the lending and spending bill, pared to about 1½ billions, the most serious opposition to it looms in the house. If the house rules committee should refuse to grant a special rule for its consideration the bill would be doomed for the discard for this session.

Coalition in Control.

The rules committee is controled by the coalition of Republicans and conservative Democrats who are opposed to further pump priming experiments. Even if a special rule should be granted, the bill faces the danger of rejection, postponement, or emasculation by the house.

The bill to double the lending authority of the Federal Housing authority, an increase of 800 millions, is scheduled to be acted upon by the house Tuesday and it appears to be headed into a lot of trouble. The Republican-Democratic coalition may defeat it or at least scale it down.

Deadlocked in a conference committee is the revision of the social security act which would increase old age pensions but save employers and employes 275 million dollars in the next three years by postponing increases in pay roll taxes. The deadlock is over the Connally amendment to increase the proportion of old age pensions paid by the federal government.

Delays Hatch Bill Action.

The one certainty at this writing is that congress will not adjourn before Thursday midnight, which is the deadline for the President's action on the Hatch clean politics bill. Mr. Roosevelt, though advised by Attorney General Frank Murphy that it is constitutional, has evinced a decided lack of eagerness to sign this bill, which would prohibit the tens of thousands of federal job holders in the Roosevelt political machine from engaging in political activity.

The ten days allowed for his action on the bill will expire at midnight Thursday. If congress were to adjourn before that time the President could give the bill a "pocket veto." That is, if he failed to sign the bill it would become a law if congress were in session Thursday midnight but would fail to become a law if congress should have adjourned sine die at that time.

INDIAN PRINCE TAKES BAND AND COOKS TO EUROPE

[Copyright: 1939: By the New York Times.]

ROME, July 30.—A strange and luxurious pilgrimage came to Rome today. In the party of fifty were the Indian prince of Mysore, his princess, court members, and servants. During the group's six months' stay in Europe it will travel by special train.

There are ten musicians, some dancers and four famous Indian singers to provide entertainment. The prince's controler general arrived last evening to see that everything was in readiness at the Grand hotel. The servants will sleep in corridors as they do in India. The prince's cooks came at the same time to prepare food which the Moslems must eat.

Tomorrow the prince will be received in private audience by Pope Pius at Castle Gandolfo, the pontiff's summer home. By special concession the Indian musicians will play pontifical and Mysore hymns for the pontiff. After a week in Rome the party will proceed to Florence, Venice, Genoa, and San Remo and then to Germany.

WOMAN SWIMS TO CALL AID FOR 33 ON UPSET BOAT

Stony Creek, Conn., July 30 (AP).—The heroic efforts of Miss Cynthia Chapin today saved the lives of thirty-two companions and the captain of a 30 foot cruiser which capsized during a moonlight sail. While the others floated, Miss Chapman swam for nearly forty-five minutes before her shouts attracted the attention of the crew of an oil tug. The crew took her out of the water and then rescued the others. A physician reported the survivors in fair condition.

Capt. Doolittle, owner of the yacht, said several hours after the near tragedy that he had warned the gay group to stay off the top of the cabin. But that they kept going up despite his warnings. A wave rolled the boat and it turned upside down.

"One girl [Miss Chapin] left the group," Capt. Doolittle related, "saying she was going to swim for help and after three-quarters of an hour in which we hung on, the oil tug came to our rescue. The girl certainly saved our lives."

HENRY FORD, 76, OPTIMISTIC OVER NATION'S FUTURE

Detroit, Mich., July 30 (AP).—Today was Henry Ford's 76th birthday anniversary, but the noted industrialist spent it without special observance.

After morning church services at Greenfield Village, which he attended with members of his family, Ford passed most of the day with Mrs. Ford at Fairlane, his estate in suburban Dearborn, reading congratulatory telegrams and letters from many parts of the world.

But for the slight stoop of his shoulders Ford appears today exactly as he did a decade and a half ago—enthusiastic about the future and convinced there is "nothing seriously wrong with the world excepting to those who seek an easy way to success."

Explaining his good health, Ford says:

"I don't worry. I don't eat too much of anything. And I have faith—faith that what has happened and what will happen are for the best."

M'NUTT RALLIES TO DEFENSE OF HULL ARMS PLAN

Cleveland, O., July 30 (AP).—Paul V. McNutt backed Secretary of State Cordell Hull's policy on neutrality today, warning this country will require a trebled navy and wreck the nation's economic life for a generation unless it coöperates with other nations to prevent war.

The newly appointed federal security administrator, for whom Democratic leaders in his native Indiana are seeking the 1940 Democratic presidential nomination, spoke out on foreign policy in an "international peace day" address at the world's poultry congress here.

McNutt said the Roosevelt administration's recent unsuccessful effort to obtain repeal of the arms embargo provision of the neutrality act had "served to present the issue whether we can withdraw from the entire current of world affairs, even though the rest of the world sinks into the disintegrating chaos of a general war."

Nazi Filling Stations Run Out of Gas; Army Uses It

MUNICH, Germany, July 30 (AP).—Gasoline stations ran out of fuel today for the heavy Sunday trade. The reason? One operator said the army had bought up most of the fuel for military maneuvers which begin about Aug. 15.

TRACE CAR LAMP CLEW IN HIT-RUN DEATH OF WOMAN

Willow Springs county highway police had a broken headlamp for a clew yesterday as they sought the hit and run driver whose automobile killed a young woman employé of the board of education.

The victim was Miss Margaret Lynch, 30 years old, 5432 Aberdeen street. She was struck early yesterday on 111th street near Major avenue, in Worth township. She was hurled against the iron fence of the Holy Sepulchre cemetery, ten feet from the four-lane highway, and killed instantly.

Knocks Off Headlight.

The impact knocked a headlamp from the car and scattered glass from the shattered lens on the pavement. Sergt. James Allegretti's investigation disclosed the death car is a 1936 Plymouth, probably a sedan. Sergt. Allegretti said there were no tire marks on the highway to indicate the driver had tried to swerve or stop.

"Yet it seems impossible that he failed to see Miss Lynch or realize what had happened," said Sergt. Allegretti. "The accident occurred under a street light."

Ohio Crash Kills Chicagoan.

John Varacello, 18 years old, 6930 South Paulina street, was killed and four other Chicagoans were injured when their automobile went off the road and overturned near Youngstown, O. The injured are Varacello's mother, Mrs. Emma Varacello, 42; his brother, Joseph, 17, and his sister, Clotilde, 15, and Mrs. Mary Scavone, 50, of 6843 South Wood street, who was driving.

Agnes Baird, a Chicago nurse, whose address was not learned, and Bessie Cairns of Winnipeg, Man., were killed in an accident 16 miles east of Akron, O.

William Bitten, 40 years old, 1623 Peoria street, was fatally injured when he was struck by an automobile at 18th and Halsted streets. He died on the way to the County hospital. The driver was Peter Blameuser, 2939 Parnell avenue.

Patricia Redmond, 2, of 2821 Homan avenue, died in St. Anthony's hospital of injuries suffered Saturday night at Kedzie avenue and 31st street. The child was in a car driven by her father, Bernard, when it was struck by a truck operated by John Trocki, 5417 South Rockwell street. Mrs. Redmond was injured slightly.

Seven Hurt in Collision.

Seven persons were injured yesterday when two automobiles were wrecked in a head-on collision at Roosevelt and Warrenville roads, south of Winfield in Du Page county. The most seriously injured were the drivers, Paul Nerwitz, 37 years old, of 2834 Orchard street, and George B. Sutherland, 27, of 125 1st street, Wheaton.

Michael Murray, 4005 Irving Park road, was booked on a charge of reckless driving by the Town Hall police yesterday after he had lost control of his automobile at Addison street and Sheffield avenue. The car crashed through the corner door and display window of the Cubs Park pharmacy.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 467 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 363 were killed in Chicago, where 12,139 were injured in the same period.

JAPANESE BOMBS WRECK LUTHERAN MISSION HOSPITAL

CHUNGKING, China, July 30 (AP).—The American embassy received reports today that Japanese planes had bombed and destroyed the United Lutheran mission hospital at Kioshan, Honan province, 150 miles north of Hankow, during a raid Wednesday. There were eight Chinese casualties.

WIFE QUITS CELL TO NURSE MATE SHE TRIED TO KILL

Dying Husband Wins Week Furlough for Plotter.

Ferry Pass, Fla., July 30 [Special].—Mrs. Mary Vann will return to the Florida state prison Thursday after seven days at the bedside of her dying husband—the man whose death she was convicted of plotting three years ago.

L. W. Vann, a locomotive engineer, has been unwavering in his belief that his wife and her lover were innocent of trying to kill him so they could collect his insurance and marry. It was his request to prison officials that won his wife a seven day leave from her ten year sentence.

Vann, 62 years old, collapsed last March when visiting his wife in the state prison at Raiford. Since that time he has not been able to work more than a day or two at a time. When physicians told L. F. Chapman, state superintendent of prisons, that Vann could not live long, Chapman granted the leave to Mrs. Vann.

Spends Nights with Children.

Mrs. Vann was an attractive grandmother, 40 years old, in 1936 when she was convicted of plotting with Earl Travis, five years her junior, and two Negroes to wreck the Louisville and Nashville train drawn by her husband's engine.

Mrs. Vann and Travis admitted their intimacies when on the witness stand. She was convicted largely through the testimony of a "voodoo doctor," 70 years old, who said she had promised to pay him $400 to wreck her husband's train.

Draw Spikes from Ties.

The elderly Negro said Mrs. Vann and Travis accompanied him and a boy, 17 years old, on two occasions when they went to a curve on the railroad near Milton, Fla., and drew rail spikes from the ties. Both times when the train passed over the loose rails, it rocked severely, but did not leave the track.

Vann stood by his wife from the day of her arrest in April, 1936, and posted the $5,000 bail on which she was released until convicted four months later. Since she has been in prison, he had been a regular visitor until he became too ill. He still believes in her innocence, although he changed the beneficiary of his life insurace policy a few days after she was arrested.

PRESIDENT LANDS TWO MARLIN AND HEADS FOR SHORE

A radio message to shore said the yacht Potomac was heading back to Washington after the President's success. The first catch weighed about 70 pounds. The weight of the second was not given. Harry Hopkins, secretary of commerce, also caught one.

After fishing fruitlessly all day yesterday in the midst of one of the biggest schools in this area's history the President began again this morning about 8:30. An hour later he hooked the first one. He boated the second about 11 a. m.

IMPATIENT AUTO DRIVER'S HORN SENDS 3 TO DEATH

Women Drive Into Train's Path in Michigan.

Half a dozen automobiles waited at a crossing seven miles east of Michigan City as a westbound Michigan Central passenger train sped by. In the first automobile were four young women.

In the car behind them the impatient driver honked his horn incessantly. He set up an even louder tooting and a clashing of gears as the train cleared the crossing. The young woman driving the first car became flustered and moved ahead.

She drove directly into the path of an eastbound freight train that was steaming down the other side of the double track. The passenger train had screened it from view.

Three Out of Four Killed.

Yesterday three of the young women were dead. The victims were:

Miss Frances Behner, 19, her sister, also of New Buffalo, who was driving.

The crash occurred at 9:45 o'clock Saturday night on Grand Beach road, just over the Indiana line in Michigan. Miss Tomandl was killed instantly. Christine Behner died in the emergency room of St. Anthony hospital, Michigan City, and her sister died in the hospital yesterday afternoon.

The fourth member of the party was Miss Inez Weidenman, 20, also of New Buffalo. Miss Weidenman was suffering from shock and minor injuries. Physicians said they thought she would recover.

Second Escape from Death.

It was the second fatal automobile accident in eight months in which Miss Weidenman escaped with her life. Last Nov. 26 her sister, Rita, 25 years old, was killed in a collision near Michigan City. Miss Tomandl, the Medford, Wis., girl, had been working in Grand Beach.

The engineer of the freight train which struck the young women's car was John Schelke, Niles, Mich.

State police heard the story of the honking motorist from other drivers who were waiting in line at the crossing. He drove away quickly after creating the senseless clamor that caused the young women's deaths. Police were at a loss to know what charge to place against him in the event that he is found.

DRIVE POLITELY! SAVE LIVES! IT'S COURTESY WEEK

Courtesy week begins today on the highways, country lanes, and city streets of Illinois. Police are going to be on the lookout for automobile drivers who:

Fail to give hand signals when they stop or turn.

Weave in and out of trafic.

Pass on hills or curves.

Drive too slowly.

The police will be courteous, too. They have been instructed to stop offending drivers and explain their offenses. There will be no arrests unless the violation is flagrant or causes an accident.

The purpose of the campaign is to save lives and prevent accidents, on the theory that courteous drivers are safe drivers. The campaign was decided upon last Thursday at a meeting called by Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor club.

The meeting was attended by Commissioner Allman, Chief Walter Williams of the state highway police, Chief James B. Kerr of the park police, and Chief Lester J. Laird of the county highway force.

African Warriors Kill 50 in Spear-Bloodying Ritual

NAIROBI, Kenya, July 30 (AP)—Marauding bands of tribesmen on a spear bloodying expedition were reported today to have killed at least fifty inhabitants of four villages of a neighboring tribe. Royal air force planes and soldiers were dispatched to track down the killers. Spear bloodying is a ritual for young native warriors.

FASCIST CHARGES AMERICANS AID BRITISH IN PLOT

ROME, July 30 (AP).—Virginio Gayda, authoritative Fascist editor, asserted today the denunciation by America of the 1911 American-Japanese commercial treaty was the result of a joint British-American plan.

Virginio Gayda.

Despite Secretary of State Hull's statement that neither Great Britain nor France had been informed in advance of the American move, Gayda insisted in La Voce d'Italia that "everything proves that an agreement between Washington, D. C., and London was reached long ago."

He charged that the agreement between the American and British governments to exchange cotton for rubber for war reserves was a preliminary arrangement in the maneuver, providing a substitute for Japan's purchases of American cotton.

Gayda said the political effect of last Wednesday's denunciation move would be to nullify the British-Japanese agreement of last Monday under which the British recognized that Japanese forces in China have "special requirements."

CHINESE FIGHTING FOR JAPS MUTINY; KILL SIX OFFICERS

SHANGHAI, July 31 [Monday] (AP).—Reports reaching Tsingtao, Shantung province port, from Tsimo, forty miles to the north, said 4,000 Chinese who had been fighting with the Japanese had mutinied, killed six Japanese officers, captured four others, and then joined Chinese National troops 100 miles away.

The Tsingtao-Tsinan railway was severed by guerrillas twice in the last week, once within forty miles of Tsingtao.

Increased activity by the Chinese irregulars was ascribed to the withdrawal of many Japanese troops from Shantung province for transportation to Manchukuo.

FEAR BRITISH-JAP TALKS HEADED FOR BREAKDOWN

Tokio Demand for Chinese Silver Rejected.

LONDON, July 30 (AP).—Fears were expressed in informed quarters today that the British-Japanese talks in Tokio on the Tientsin dispute were headed toward a breakdown.

Sir Robert Craigie.

Serious difficulties were said to have developed from Japanese demands that Britain support Japanese backed currency in the British concession in the North China port and hand over silver belonging to the Chinese government and held in concession banks to the Japanese dominated Peking regime.

Sir Robert Leslie Craigie, British ambassador to Tokio, reported the difficulties yesterday to the foreign office and new instructions were sent to him immediately.

Can't Go Beyond Tientsin.

It was understood he was told to inform the Japanese the question involved important international issues and could not be discussed in negotiations which were supposed to be confined to the local situation in Tientsin, where the Japanese have blockaded the British and French concessions since June 14.

If Japan persists in her demands, it was said that Britain might be forced to break off the negotiations, which began last Monday.

Official circles already have stated that Britain was considering the advisability of following the example of Washington in denouncing the American-Japanese trade treaty by abrogating the British-Japanese trade pact of 1911 if the Tokio talks fail.

Police Warn Shopkeepers.

PEKING, July 30 (AP).—Police were visiting all Chinese shops today, warning them to remove British goods from their shelves, in an extension of the anti-British campaign. Japanese shops continued to serve Britons—but purchases always are wrapped in paper clearly inscribed: "Down with Britain."

Thousands of new posters appeared in public places, even on trees and posts on legation quarter territory, denouncing the "banefully encroaching influence of Britain." They proclaimed that "the spirited people of the yellow race won't be the slaves of England."

Threaten Britons' Lives.

SHANGHAI, July 31 [Monday].—(AP)—A move to drive Britons out of North China has been extended while British-Japanese differences in Shanghai smouldered today. The anti-British campaign brought these developments yesterday:

1. Britons reaching Tientsin from Tsinan in Shantung province said a committee had written all British nationals there a warning their lives would not be safe after Aug. 10.

2. The Japanese press in Tientsin reported the anti-British committee in Tsangchow, Hopei province city fifty miles south of Tientsin, had ordered all British missionaries to leave.

3. British officials in Shanghai were reported preparing a protest to the Japanese against their alleged encroachment Saturday on British territory in erecting barbed wire barricades on North Klangsi road, boundary between the British and Japanese defense sectors here.

It was understood the protest would include a demand that the barricades, extending a mile and a half, be withdrawn. Quiet was restored to the area after the Japanese opened gaps in the wires at street intersections, thus allowing Chinese free passage between the two sectors. Thousands of Chinese had fled in terror with their possessions Saturday into the British zone and camped in the street alongside the barrier.

British commercial circles in Tsingtao, Shantung port, said the anti-British boycott movement in Shantung province had brought business to a virtual standstill. They said Chinese were afraid to purchase British goods.

Trade restrictions in Tsingtao and elsewhere in Shantung also are curtailing American business.

Demonstrate Before Embassy.

TOKIO, July 31 [Monday] (AP).—Scattered groups of Japanese demonstrated before the British embassy this morning as a subcommittee meeting of the British-Japanese conference was canceled and a general meeting of the conference scheduled for the afternoon. The demonstrators paused before the embassy with their slogans and banners as they paraded to two big mass meetings.

EVANSTON RODEO SADDLE STOLEN.

A saddle used for trick riding and valued at $90 was stolen Saturday night from the rodeo in Evanston, officials reported to police yesterday.

The Inquiring Reporter

The Question.

Should the United States go to war with Japan?

Where Answered.

The Answers.

George Ecklove, 5710 Eastwood avenue, mechanic—Of course we don't need to go to war against the Japs. Why should we? I have grown sons, and I'm not looking for trouble for them. The diplomats can settle any grievances we have against Japan . . . better, by far, than it can be done with bullets. Nothing is ever gained by war.

A. E. Bausenbach, 11 Lake street, Oak Park, automotive equipment salesman—No! For the first reason, nothing could be gained economically. If such a step were to be taken it should have been made at the time of the Manchurian conquest. There is too much prejudice in America against nationalities. Surely we have no disagreements with Japan that cannot be settled without war.

Mrs. Arthur H. Weiss, 1108 Glenlake avenue, housewife—No. I'm against war at all times . . . I'm a pacifist. If they invited trouble with us by threatening to invade the Pacific coast, of course we should have to fight. But I don't believe in military excursions and see no reason to worry about our relations with Japan. We are unnecessarily moved by propaganda.

H. T. Keely, 5730 North Mobile avenue, salesman—I don't see any reason for fighting Japan. Leave the Japanese alone, unless they invade America. There seems to be no provocation for war at the present time. Surely any differences over trade agreements can be worked out by the heads of the two governments without sending men to kill each other. What would anybody gain?

Kenneth Christensen, 3647 Leclaire avenue, factory worker—I don't want a war. We have no reason to fight Japan, but then we never need a reason for a war. Any feeling against Japan now is just the result of some hotheaded diplomats trying to inveigle us into backing up Britain's interest in the orient.

AMERICAN NAVY BEST IN WORLD, LEAHY ASSERTS

Admiral Makes Report on Eve of Retirement.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 30.—The American navy—the men of war at sea, under construction and contemplated—is the best in the world and well able to protect the nation's sea frontiers, Admiral William D. Leahy asserted today in his last report as chief of naval operations.

"Fleets of the major powers are now expanding rapidly, but provided they do not expand beyond what we now believe to be their building programs," he said, "the chief of naval operations is of the opinion that the navy, built, building, and authorized, together with the bases in existence and in prospect will provide sufficient protection for the vital sea frontiers of the United States.

"The battle efficiency of our fleet and the training and morale of our men are believed to be unequaled by any major naval power."

Going to Porto Rico.

Admiral Leady is completing his term of duty as chief of naval operations and will be retired automatically. He has been named governor of Porto Rico, however, and in that capacity will aid in the development of Caribbean defenses and air and naval bases.

In connection with his high rating of the American navy, he asserted that the enlisted man of today is of superior education and mental caliber as compared with his fellows in any period of American history. He added that there is superior training, leadership, and morale on the part of the officer personnel.

Leahy, in illustrating his assertion, cited the Squalus disaster. He said the officers and men of the ill fated submarine showed courage and fortitude, as did the officers and men engaged in rescue and salvage operations. He also commended Admiral H. E. Yarnell, saying the latter has served with distinction in command of the Asiatic squadron during the far eastern crisis.

Offense in Time of War.

The admiral said in his report that while the policy of this country is defensive, it is imperative in the event war is forced on the nation that damage from an enemy be limited to a minimum. This should be done by bringing the enemy fleet to terms as quickly as possible and at a safe distance from the nation's shores, he asserted.

If the country is forced to take the offensive, he declared, the fleet should seek the enemy and engage him wherever he can be brought to action. For this reason the navy must be a well balanced organization, sufficiently equipped in every essential element and highly trained, he added.

"It is emphasized that the present authorized building program should be pushed to completion at the earliest practicable date," he warned. "A program of construction of other air, destroyer, and submarine bases recommended by the Hepburn board should be inaugurated at an early date."

FLOOD WALL BREAKS; TOWNS AND COUNTRY NEAR PEKING PERILED

PEKING, July 30 (AP).—A flood of major proportions in Hopei province was indicated today by first reports trickling in from the disaster area where large loss of life and heavy property damage was feared.

Arrows locate areas perilled by floods.

The Grand canal burst its banks for the second time last night at Tungchow, fifteen miles east of Peking, inundating scores of villages. Tungchow streets were still under water today and many residents were marooned on the city's broad walls through which the flood already had made a breach. Fields for miles around were under water. Crops were ruined.

Southwest of Peking serious floods were reported also in the Paoting area. It was believed the entire central Hopei plain was affected but communication with the region was almost impossible. Hopei has hundreds of rivers, most of them draining eastward into the sea. The rivers were not expected to reach their flood peak for two weeks when, it was feared, the situation may become desperate.

"Running away is lots of fun until you get hungry, and there's nobody to put a blanket over you or scratch your ears. Then is when I begin to hope that the boss has advertised for me in a Tribune Lost and Found want ad."

Whenever you lose anything of value be sure to telephone a Lost and Found want ad to the Chicago Tribune. Thousands of dollars' worth of property is restored each year to owners who advertise in the Lost and Found column of the Tribune.

Regardless of what you may have lost, or where in Chicago or suburbs you may have lost it, there is a good chance that a Tribune reader will find it.

●As an extra service to Tribune Lost and Found advertisers, all such ads are kept for three months after publication in a special register open to the public at the Tribune Public Service Offices, 1 S. Dearborn St. and in Tribune Tower, 435 N. Michigan Ave.

Every day of the week, the Tribune is read by a majority of all the families in metropolitan Chicago. This is practically as many as read any two other Chicago newspapers combined.

Further, the Tribune is Chicago's big want ad marketplace, carrying far more want advertising and, as a result, attracting far more want ad readers than any other Chicago newspaper.

THE ABC'S OF SILVER (2)

By CALEB

CENTURIES of the seductive charm that silver has always held for beauty-lovers mellow its appeal to moderns. As far back as 2500 B. C., Egyptian drawings carved on stone preserved the silversmiths' craft. Wrought silver bowls and vases, fashioned around 1900 B. C., greet the museum visitor; and discoveries like an Etruscan toilet box of 400 B. C., a Cyprian jug of 700 B. C., or a Grecian drinking cup and long-handled ladle dating to 300 B. C., reaffirm its ancient lineage.

In the Old Testament, Demetrius made silver shrines for Diana Homer's page talks of "the wine-bowl of silver standing in the entrance hall." Horace writes of "homes that gleamed with silver." Cicero mentions "wrought and stamped silver"; and Pliny describes suppers "served on pure and antique silver."

All too soon, however, came civilization's obliteration by the Gothic hordes of the fourth and sixth centuries A. D. Not till the fourteenth century's Renaissance did "the glory that was Greece and the grandeur that was Rome" reappear in the world, bringing with them a new birth for silvercraft. Genius again embraced the creative opportunities stifled by the Dark Ages . . . climaxing its restoration in such masterpieces as those of the inimitable Benvenuto Cellini.

During the Middle Ages, however, silver spoons were the exclusive possession of wealth and royalty. A medieval belief that silver taken into the mouth would insure health, gave rise to the custom of making one's first gift to an infant a silver spoon. "Born with a silver spoon in his mouth" still indicates the enviable status of one supposed to have been fortune-favored at birth.

In the matter of knife and fork, few of us may know that scant hundreds of years ago the invited guest was supposed to come equipped with his own knife, both to cut his food and convey it to his mouth. As for the fork—while early employed in the kitchen, it was slow in coming to table; and in the words of the Sterling Silversmiths' Guild of America: "The first Italians who, in the 16th century, braved custom to eat with forks instead of their fingers, were ridiculed as sissies."

When England wished to honor Governor Winthrop of Massachusetts, in 1633, its gift was a silver fork—the first introduced into America. Even so, during the remainder of the 17th century, use of the fork was still a novelty worthy of comment by historians!

CRIME STATISTICS: METHODS USED IN NEW YORK AND CHICAGO DIFFER

Charges that New York police minimize that city's crime record are told in the dispatch below at the left. The Chicago police department's method of keeping crime records is described in the story in the adjoining column.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 30 [Special].—Agents of the federal bureau of investigation are digging up evidence showing that New York police have been classifying offenses in such a way that crime conditions here have been minimized, it was revealed today.

The disclosure came to light when government agents inspected police blotters, records and secret files in the station houses during a routine inquiry ordered by officials in Washington. The federal agency is seeking to codify crime statistics and wants all cities to furnish information on a uniform basis.

Both Mayor Fiorello La Guardia and Police Commissioner Lewis J. Valentine admitted this week that the inquiry is under way, but denied any reflection on the department.

Juvenile Crimes Camouflaged.

One discovery of the federal agents was that, with the exception of a handful of cases, crimes by children under 16 years of age were listed merely as juvenile delinquencies in the New York system. Even holdups at pistol point are listed as delinquencies, if the bandits are young enough. Murder is the only crime young hoodlums can be accused of except juvenile delinquency, according to the system. Thus the city's record of robbery and other crimes of violence is held to a minimum.

It was disclosed that, under the New York system, thefts of automobiles are "investigations" until the police have positive proof they have been stolen. On this point the police commissioner asserted car thefts were not listed as larceny "until proven to be larceny." He did not elaborate. At any rate, the federal investigators were led to the opinion the number of stolen automobiles in New York City is being understated.

Another quirk in New York police crime reporting which came to light is the fact that burglaries are classified as larcenies unless there are signs of forcible entry.

Commanders Keep Records Clear.

In their investigation the federal men learned the captains commanding several of the precinct station houses edited the reports of crime in their district in order to have as good a record as possible.

Commissioner Valentine said he expected the agents would report some "errors" by the New York police, but that these would be only the errors which are bound to occur "in any large department." He said he had given the government men access to everything they wanted.

The Chicago police department's system of gathering crime statistics leaves few loopholes, according to the Chicago crime commission, by which increases in various types of offenses can be covered up. This was shown yesterday in an examination of methods used by the department's bureau of crime statistics in compiling monthly figures.

Listed Regardless of Age.

All robberies—whether committed by a person who seemed to the victim to be only 15 years old or even younger—are placed in that class. They are not listed as juvenile delinquencies. Cases of assault by juveniles, white or colored, are counted in the aggravated assault group if the circumstances justify such classification.

No automobile larcenies are ever listed as "investigations" by the statistics bureau. The investigating officers list the theft of an automobile as such on their offense report—or do not submit an offense report. The latter action is taken, for example, if investigation reveals that the car has been picked up by a finance company.

Follow Letter of Law.

According to state statute, any entry made into a home or place of business for the purpose of taking any property therein is termed a burglary. It does not matter whether entry was made forcibly or merely by entering through an open door. Thus, any such offense is listed by the statistics bureau as a burglary, instead of in the larceny class.

A Chicago police captain has little chance of "editing" his crime reports because he is checked daily through the offense reports and records at the central complaint room in the police building at 11th and State streets.

How System Works.

When John Jones reports to Police 1313 that he has been robbed, his report is entered in a complaint book and numbered. The district in which the robbery occurred is given the number carried at police headquarters. When investigating officers make their reports, after investigating, they not only write an offense report, but also report by telephone to the central complaint room.

The bureau of crime statistics is headed by Capt. William Kennedy and staffed by a group of policemen trained in the science of crime statistics work. Organized in 1931, when Commissioner James P. Allman took over his duties, the bureau has won praise from the Chicago crime commission.

BOUND IN HOME BY BURGLARS; ONE ARRESTED

A young Negro was seized by police early today as he was fleeing from an apartment at 1332 Albion avenue, where he and a companion had slugged and tied up Harry A. Janszen, 55 years old, an optemetrist. Janszen was seriously beaten and is in the Edgewater hospital. The prisoner is James Smith, 21, of St. Louis, Mo.

Smith and his companion, who got away, allegedly had made several attempts at thievery in the Rogers Park district just before midnight and police were on the lookout for them. They finally were traced to 1326 Albion avenue, a few doors from Janszen's home. Police squads commanded by Sergts. Walter Conrad and Verbal Codling just missed catching them.

While police were searching the neighborhood the two Negroes got into the apartment of Janszen's, punched him to the floor, and tied him to a bed. Then they gaged him. They took some jewelry and left, Smith going out the front door and his confederate leaving at the rear.

Sergts. Codling and Conrad saw Smith and seized him. They took him to the station. In the meantime, Janszen lay helpless in his apartment, the police not knowing of his predicament. He later was found by his wife and son on their return home. Smith had some of the Janszen jewelry in his pockets.

Youth, 18, Held as Rapist; Seized by Girl's Father

Anthony Amendola, 18 years old, 9243 Ellis avenue, was held by Gresham police last night on a complaint that he raped a girl 14 years old. Police said he and the girl met at a picnic in the Ryan woods section of the forest preserve, 87th street and Damen avenue. The two were walking toward the girl's home later when her father, who was looking for her, came upon them. She told him what had happened, and he seized Amendola, police said.

CAR THIEVES GET BRIDE'S CLOTHES; HONEYMOON ENDS

Mr. and Mrs. Mungo Miller of Ann Arbor, Mich., announced regretfully at the Central police station yesterday that their honeymoon was over. A brick, they said, was to blame.

The Millers were married Friday and arrived in Chicago Saturday night on their wedding trip. They parked their car near Roosevelt road and Wabash avenue.

Yesterday they found that some one had bashed in a window with a brick and had taken a suit of Miller's and three dresses and some other garments belonging to his wife.

"We're going back to Ann Arbor," said the bride. "I haven't a thing to wear."

4 LOVERS' LANE BANDIT SUSPECTS SEIZED IN CHASE

Car Accessories Loot Found in Homes.

Four young men, seized after a police chase, were locked up in the Central station last night as evidence piled up against them as members of a gang of automobile strippers and lovers' lane bandits.

The gang operated on the southwest side, where in recent weeks there has been a wave of complaints from motorists who were the victims of automobile parts thieves.

After the arrests police visited the homes of the accused bandits and returned with carloads of automobile radios, heaters, spotlights, wheels, spare tires, and other accessories.

Three Have Records.

Three of those in custody have police records. The prisoners are Pete Dutkiewicz, 22 years old, and John [Duke] Dutkiewicz, 25, both of 4250 South Knox avenue; their cousin, John Dutkiewicz, 23, of 4331 South Knox avenue, and Tony Froncza, 26, of 4637 South Mozart street. Ted Zielinski, 23, of 5013 South Latrobe avenue, was arrested later at Pete Dutkiewicz's home when he came there, police said, to buy a tire.

The four suspects were captured in front of 4111 Archer avenue by Sergt. James Quinn of the stolen automobile detail and Policemen Frank Styx and Joseph Heimoski.

Sentenced for Burglary.

Pete Dutkiewicz was sentenced to Joliet penitentiary as an accessory to burglary last March 20 and has an appeal pending. He was held to the grand jury on Sept. 24, 1936, on a manslaughter charge after an automobile accident, but was freed.

Bureau of identification records also revealed that the John Dutkiewicz, who lives at 4331 Knox avenue, was sentenced to a year in Pontiac prison for robbery in March, 1933.

HUSBAND BEATS MAN ACCUSED OF ANNOYING WIFE

Norman Plane, 29 years old, 2567 East 71st street, was in the Jackson Park hospital last night suffering from a severe beating, and John Zahorik, 33, and his brother Robert, 19, of 633 East 61st street, were locked up in the Grand Crossing police station for inflicting the beating. Plane told police that the Zahoriks lured him to an alley in back of 7200 South Shore drive and attacked him. John Zahorik admitted the attack and said it was because Plane had annoyed his wife, Mrs. Sonja Zahorik, on the phone. All had met several months ago at a party and Plane, he charged, had telephoned her three times. She finally complained to him and he decided to beat Plane up, he said.

CALL 20 WITNESSES FOR BENTON INQUEST INTO PORCH SLAYING

Benton, Ill., July 30 [Special].—Because of wide interest in the slaying of Mrs. George W. Gore Sr., Coroner David J. Clayton will conduct the inquest in the city hall auditorium tomorrow at 6 p. m. Twenty or more witnesses will be called.

George Gore Jr., stepson of Mrs. Gore, is at liberty under $10,000 bond on a charge of murder. He was brought here for questioning the day after the killing and held for three days. On the recommendation of State's Attorney Rea Jones, he was released on bond. He returned to his home in Cape Girardeau, Mo., and will not be a witness at the inquest.

RE-ENACT HOLDUP TO GET INNOCENT PRISONER FREED

New York, July 30 (AP).—Jack Jacobson, 22 years old, and Morris Gottleib, 35, today reënacted a year old stickup to prove the innocence of a man they never knew had been arrested, indicted, convicted, sentenced, and imprisoned for the crime.

Detectives said they expected the prompt release of Philip Caruso, 24, who already has served eight months of a 10 to 20 year sentence in Sing Sing. Caruso had been identified by the holdup victim, Eugene Scamiellino, as one of two gun toting hitchhikers who held him up a year ago, ordered him out of his car and drove away.

After the reënactment Scamiellino said: "These are the fellows who did it all right. I must have picked the wrong man."

TWO ST. CHARLES PAROLEES SEIZED TRYING BURGLARY

Two parolees from the St. Charles school for boys and a third youth were arrested last night after the attempted burglary of a candy store at 1741 Milwaukee avenue. They are: Ralph Cook Jr., 18 years old, alias Larry Kingston, and Medill McCormick, 20, both of 1305 Washington boulevard, and Eugene Valunas, 20, of 1643 North Honore street. Cook and McCormick were paroled last November. McCormick and Valunas were seized fleeing from the candy store by Edward Sweet, a private watchman, and Policemen Thomas Breen and Albert Bruns, of the North avenue station. Cook was nabbed at home.

Bishop's 79th August Sale of Fine Furs

There's such drama in our new silhouettes . . . such engagingly young ideas in the little details of fit and flare, and in the so-important shoulder, collar and sleeve treatments. And, of course, these coats are fashioned from the very pick of the market's superlative pelts, their reliability soundly guaranteed by Bishop's 79-year tradition of the finest in fur quality and value. Just a few from hundreds of our exciting August Sale values are shown here.

If ever a fur coat were designed for glamour and elegance it's this magnificent new model in Fisher blended Fitch . . . the fur that stole the show at all the recent Paris openings. Lusciously soft, its exquisite brown skins shimmer with deep, rich highlights. And it boasts its own stunning muff which brings this coat right into the Victorian spirit of Autumn fashions. Both coat and muff, $595

With such subtle perfection have the skins for the Mink blended Muskrat coat, shown at the extreme left, been dyed and blended that you'll have to look twice to realize that it's not mink after all. There's youthful dash and verve in the silhouette. And it will make only a tiny dent in your budget if you buy now . . $145

Haven't you always coveted the flattery of a truly fine Gray Squirrel coat? Then this is just the miracle value you've been hoping someday to find! We know it'll be hard for you to believe the modest price-tag when you see how thrillingly beautiful is this superb quality model $145

Of course it's the darling of all the Paris showings . . . silkily fine Persian Lamb, the aristocrat of lovely peltries. Aglow with deep highlights, the lustrous sheen of this gorgeous, tightly curled coat shown at the right, will delight the most exacting judge of fur quality. Its back falls in softly rippled fullness. Just for an added fillip of elegance there's a richly jeweled clasp at the throat. One of our matchless August values! $395

At the left—an elegantly soft feather-light Beaver coat whose satiny sheen with fascinating ombre shadings will do lovely things for your skin, hair and eyes. By a wonderful new shearing process this beloved fur has lost its one annoying habit—that of curling. So you can absolutely count on it keeping its silky smoothness. . . $285

Hundreds of other extraordinary values to fit every budget are in this greatest August Sale of our entire history. Prices begin, you know, at $79

CLOSE CONTESTS MARK ILLINOIS MUSIC FESTIVAL

Judges Ask Encores in Choosing Winners.

FESTIVAL TICKETS!

Reserved seat tickets for the tenth Chicagoland Music Festival in Soldiers' field on Aug. 19 are now on sale at 50 cents and $1 each. They may be obtained by mail [make check or money order payable to Tribune Charities, Inc.] or by calling at the Chicago Tribune Public Service bureaus at 1 South Dearborn street and in Tribune Tower lobby.

Urbana, Ill., July 30 [Special].—So close were the contestants in the second central Illinois music festival contests last night that a jury of three judges had to call back several singers before the decisions were announced. One of the judges was Kathryn Witwer, prima donna of W-G-N.

The competition, held before an audience of 500 in Smith Memorial hall on the University of Illinois campus, was under the direction of Mrs. Frank Tatham Johnson.

To Compete in Chicago.

The winners will compete in the vocal, violin, and cornet finals of THE TRIBUNE'S Chicagoland Music Festival to be held Saturday, Aug. 19, in Chicago.

Should they win in that competition, last night's first place victors will sing or play in Soldiers' field before 100,000 people, following in the footsteps of several University of Illinois graduates. One of these, Miss Nell Stuart of Champaign, now a member of the U. of I. music faculty, was chosen best woman singer in a previous Chicagoland final.

Winners Are Listed.

Tenor—Edwin Platte, Champaign, first; William Howard Baylor, Bloomington, second.
Coloratura soprano—Marilynn Foster, Decatur, first; Vivian Adams, Osman, second.
Dramatic soprano—Mary Grace Randles, Springfield, first; Doris Sohn, Herrin, second.
Contralto—Genevieve Carlock, Bloomington, first; Nadyne Duffin, Danville, second.
Violin—Wilson Bray, Champaign, first; Norma Jones, Onarga, second.
Cornet—Earl Cranford, Tuscola, first; Ernest Englund Jr., Urbana, second.

Philip Maxwell, director of the Chicagoland festival, speaking after the contest, urged the University of Illinois to sponsor next summer a huge outdoor festival.

MILWAUKEE GIRL, 13, RIDES FREIGHT TRAIN TO CHICAGO

Nancy Froemming and her ambition rode to Chicago this morning in a freight car. Nancy is only 13 years old. She lives at 625 West Clark street in Milwaukee, Wis. Nancy can sing. She thinks she can sing with the best of them.

Last night she decided to embark upon a singing career. Milwaukee, she felt, was too small for such a grand scheme. So she decided to come to Chicago.

Nancy didn't have any railroad fare, but that didn't deter her—not with her ambition. So she climbed aboard a freight train heading south. She climbed out somewhere around Western and Bloomingdale avenues. Policemen George Nadnick and Edward Hayes of the North avenue station found her walking down the street. But Nancy didn't mind. She hummed happily as the policemen took her to the juvenile detention home.

A bridle path became a bridal path yesterday for Miss Barbara Erdnuess, 19 years old, and Edwin F. Gartz, 27, a machinery salesman. The couple, dressed in cowboy regalia and mounted on white horses, were married in a wedding-on-horseback ceremony at a riding academy at 2434 Berwyn avenue. Municipal Judge Gibson E. Gorman performed the ceremony. He too was on horseback.

"Edwin and I met on a bridle path. We decided on this kind of a wedding because we both like horses," the bride said.

2 DAIRIES READY TO SELL MILK IN PAPER BOTTLES

Suit Is Pending to Force City's Approval.

At least two dairies in the city would market milk in paper containers, it was learned yesterday, if it were legally possible to do so. A suit to compel the city to permit the use of the paper containers is pending in federal court.

The dairies favoring the new method of distribution are the Borden company and Fieldcrest Dairies, Inc. Fieldcrest opened the court fight after permission to use the paper containers had been denied by the Chicago board of health. Borden also has filed an application for permission to use them. At the offices of the board of health it was said no action is likely on the Borden application or on any other until the court suit is settled.

On Sale in Suburbs.

It is believed probable that the Bowman company also would begin use of the paper containers if there were a demand for them.

All three companies now sell milk in both glass and paper containers in the suburbs. Approximately 75 per cent of the milk sold in the suburbs by Borden is in paper containers, as is about 40 per cent of that sold by Bowman. Fieldcrest uses paper containers exclusively in the suburban area.

Bowman officials said yesterday that it cost between eight and nine mills more to market paper packed milk than that in glass. Borden officials estimated that the paper was almost eight mills per container more expensive. Sam Dean Jr., president of Fieldcrest, said he believed paper actually was less expensive because larger loads could be handled and there would be no washing cost.

Price Difference Expected.

Borden officials added, however, that the present practice of selling milk in paper and glass containers at the same price could not continue. They said that in New York and other cities where paper containers are legal the price per quart is one cent more for milk in paper containers.

They said if the cost of the paper containers could be lowered it would be possible to continue to sell at the same price as milk in glass containers.

The Bowman company reported that the volume of business in paper contained milk was about 5 per cent less than it was shortly after the new package was introduced last November.

Association Threatens to Set Up Co-operative.

New York, July 30 [Special].—Recurring retail milk price increases resulting from reinstatement of price fixing under the federal and state control programs were protested today by the United Independent Retail Grocers' and Food Dealers' association, representing more than 10,000 retail grocers in the New York metropolitan area.

The protest was made as it became known that the second of the two biggest milk distributors in New York had joined its rival in announcing another retail milk price boost, effective Tuesday.

Virtual Monoply in Area.

Following the lead taken Saturday by the Borden company, Sheffield Farms, Inc., today announced it will conform with the price increases scheduled by Borden. Beginning Tuesday both companies—which virtually control milk distribution in the area—will put into effect half cent increases, raising to 13½ cents the price of delivered grade B milk, the grade which goes into most homes. The price of grade A will move up to 16½ cents a quart. Cream will be 20 cents per half pint, an increase of 1 cent.

May Set Up Coöperative.

Through Charles Ackerman, its general manager, the Retail Grocers' association announced a protest meeting to be held Tuesday evening in Hotel Astor. Speaking for his organization, Ackerman said that if the price of milk to consumers continues to increase, a milk coöperative will be formed by the association, which he said has established warehousing and trucking facilities in order to deliver milk directly from the farmer to the storekeeper. This would enable the consuming public to buy the milk at the lowest possible price, he said.

Long Island Home Burns with a Loss of $150,000

Locust Valley, N. Y., July 30 (AP).—Fire early today destroyed the twenty-five room country home of Albert H. Diebold, wealthy manufacturing chemist, at an estimated loss of $150,000. The estate, "Braewood," was one of the show places of the exclusive Long Island "gold coast" colony. The fire aroused Mr. and Mrs. Diebold shortly after 3 a. m. as they slept in a bedroom directly overhead. "All we could do was grab a few personal belonging, wake up the servants, and run for it," Diebold said.

4 SOVIET FLYERS KILLED IN ACTION PRAISED IN PRESS

MOSCOW, July 30 (AP)—Soviet newspapers today published eulogies of four prominent Russian airmen killed in the line of duty, but how or where official announcements failed to disclose.

One theory advanced was that they had been killed in Outer Mongolia where soviet forces are engaged in conflict with Japanese on the frontier of Manchukuo and Outer Mongolia.

The casualties were Division Commander V. S. Kohlzunov, one of the top leaders of soviet aviation; Maj. S. A. Cherkassov, an ace pilot; Army Engineer A. G. Titov, and Junior Commander I. K. Kurnishov. Their bodies were cremated last night.

PANAMA TO SPAN ISTHMUS WITH A NEW HIGHWAY

Road to Connect Capital with Colon.

BY PETER BRENNAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PANAMA CITY, Panama, July 30.—The isthmus of Panama, which is less than fifty miles wide, soon will have a road connecting its terminal cities, Colon and Panama City.

This project was assured with the recent ratification by the United States senate of the treaty negotiated with Panama in 1936 and ratified by the Panamanian national assembly in the same year.

New highway to parallel canal.

Panama has a good system of roads in the interior on the west side of the canal. It extends almost to the Costa Rican border. One day it will be part of the Inter-American highway.

Railroad Holds Rights.

The Panama railroad, a corporation whose stock is owned by the government of the United States, had the exclusive right to establish roads across the isthmus. This was a throwback to 1849 when Colombia, of which Panama was then a part, granted the original company such rights for 100 years. When the United States purchased the railroad's capital stock in 1904 it retained the privilege.

Under the new treaty the Panama railroad relinquishes its road monopoly. The pact says the highway is to be completed in ten years but no such length of time will be required. The probable route will include the Canal Zone road as far as Madden dam, which would leave about twenty-six miles to be completed in the Atlantic sector.

Under the old treaty the canal administration could obtain additional land outside the Canal Zone by merely informing the Panama government of its wish. The only explanation required was that such land was needed in the operation, maintenance, and defense of the canal. Now, if such a situation arises, the two governments will consult.

The new treaty makes the two nations more nearly partners, Panamanians contend. The "big brother" implication is wiped out.

12,000 British Naval Reserves Head for Sea and War Games

LONDON, July 30 (AP).—Naval reservists from all over Britain—more than 12,000 of them—left home today to join the reserve fleet Britain is mobilizing in fear of late summer international tension.

Retired officers, noncommissioned officers, and seamen headed for the three big British naval bases, Portsmouth, Chatham, and Devonport, where the admiralty ordered that each man be given a friendly welcome with a cup of tea and a bun when he reports.

Two thousand other naval reservists already are on duty, having been mobilized last May, so that tomorrow night about 14,000 reservists will be on active duty to help man the 130 ships of the reserve fleet.

Home Fleet Sails.

Britain's powerful home fleet sailed yesterday for a cruise preparatory to maneuvers with the reserve fleet in the third week of August which will bring British naval forces to peak form.

Before the maneuvers King George VI. is to review the reserve fleet Aug. 9 in Weymouth bay.

Among the ships are twenty cruisers, some of which have been converted into anti-aircraft vessels; fifty destroyers, ten escort vessels and minesweepers, and miscellaneous craft attached to gunnery, torpedo and anti-submarine schools. Twenty ships of the fifth and sixth submarine flotillas also will participate.

Reserve Fleet 20 Years Old.

The reserve fleet, composed of vessels withdrawn from active service for replacement by newer craft, averages twenty years in age, but the admiralty says that under Britain's gigantic building program more and more cruisers of newer classes are being assigned the reserve fleet.

Normally the reserve ships are manned only by skeleton crews which keep machinery and armament in working order. When reserves are called up the ships then are completely outfitted before starting intensive drill preparatory to joining the regular fleet for maneuvers.

BORDER GUARDS OF HUNGARY AND RUMANIA CLASH

BUDAPEST, Hungary, July 30 (AP).—The official Hungarian news agency today said more than sixty shots were fired by Rumanian guards into Hungarian territory at Tecso last night.

The agency asserted the guards began firing at raftsmen on the Tisza river, but the bullets struck the Hungarian custom house on the opposite bank. A Hungarian patrol finally returned the fire, and the shooting stopped at dawn with no casualties.

The population on the Hungarian northeastern frontier was described as terrified by the occurrence.

FRANCE TO FIGHT ESPIONAGE WITH DEATH PENALTY

Anti-Spy Laws Are Put Into Single Code.

PARIS, July 30 (AP).—France's new spy code, the strictest anti-espionage measure the third republic ever had in peacetime, became law today with its publication in the official journal.

It provided the death penalty in time of peace for ten separate crimes and offenses against the foreign security of the state.

Foreigners as well were made liable to the death penalty in most of the ten cases cited. Offering to commit any one of the crimes or offenses or provoking some one else to do so were made punishable by death.

The harshness of the anti-spy laws reinforced in a single code startled Frenchmen and foreigners alike.

Offenses Are Described.

Among those made subject to the death penalty were:

Those who publish military information of any nature not made public by the government.

Those who reveal by any means measures taken to arrest spies or who report on proceedings of investigating magistrates or the court itself in such cases.

Those who destroy or damage for any reason any material interesting national defense.

Those who "shake the faith" of the armed forces in any way. Such crimes, all considered as treason, are to be judged by military courts. The legislation applied to the colonies as well as the homeland.

Jail Terms for Minor Offenses.

Minor offenses of this nature have been punishable in peacetime by jail terms of from one to five years and fines of from $26.50 to $265.

The official journal also turned twenty-eight decrees into law, including one increasing the anti-espionage forces of the surete nationale by 448 operatives.

First in the list was Premier Daladier's decree prolonging the life of the present chamber of deputies by two years, to June 1, 1942, and postponing all regular elections, or by-elections created by resignations, to that date.

In the preface, Daladier indicated the main reason for the decree was to keep from giving Reichsfuehrer Hitler the opportunity for another move while France was engaged in internal quarrels as when he occupied the demilitarized Rhineland and Austria.

"Political struggles have a tendency to begin again at the very moment when French union and calm are more necessary than ever," he said.

DECLARES SOVIET MIGHT HINDERS NEW WORLD WAR

MOSCOW, July 30 (AP).—Fascist nations were called "the clenched fist of the capitalist world against the U. S. S. R." today by the soviet government newspaper Izvestia in an article on the 25th anniversary of the beginning of the world war.

Reasons for the 1914 conflict—rivalry over spheres of influence, territory, colonies and raw materials—are similar to those prevailing today, the paper said.

"A sixth part of the world has withdrawn from the system of world capitalism," declared Izvestia. "The very existence of the soviet union—of this mighty, invincible, fortress of socialism—is a decisive power in the world, a factor which hinders development of a second world war. . . . The U. S. S. R. is strong and mighty, ready at any time to defeat any aggressor or combination of aggressors."

FINDS NAZI AIR FLEET AMERICA'S RIVAL FOR SPEED

Produce 2 Fighting, 3 Bombing Types.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, July 30.—The technical excellence of the German air force can best be understood by comparing the performance of standard pursuit and bombardment planes of the German air arm with those of America's army air corps squadrons.

At this time Germany has concentrated upon two types of single-seat fighting planes and three types of bombing planes. The single seat fighters are defensive airplanes, intended to engage enemy bombers that might attempt to raid targets on German soil. The bombers are the offensive machines of the air force.

All these German machines are monoplanes, constructed chiefly of metal. Duralumin and electron—a new metal high in magnesium content—are used almost entirely. All machines have retractile landing gears and are exceptionally well streamlined.

Planes Slick and Clean.

I saw only one of the fighter types—a Messerschmidt 109. This plane is built at the Bayerische Flugzeugwerke at Augsberg. It is slick and clean, flush riveting being used throughout. The wing is exceptionally large—span being 34 feet—for the size of the ship and is notable for the square tips.

The 109, I was told, weighs nearly 7,000 pounds, including the 1,400 horse power Daimler-Benz liquid cooled motor. It's top speed is said to be just over 400 miles an hour with this engine. Other motors are used in the same machine, ranging from 950 to 1,200 horse power. Most of the 109s have 1,100 horse power motors and do 370 miles an hour.

The plane is supposed to land at sixty-eight miles an hour. This relatively slow landing speed is achieved through the use of slots along the leading edges of the wing at the tips and flaps that cover two-thirds of the trailing edge.

Equipped for Blind Flying.

Contrary to reports the 109 is equipped with full blind flying instruments [only the artificial horizon being missing] complete engine instruments and radio receiver and transmitter. The motor has an automatic fuel injection system that eliminates the need for mixture adjustments. There is an electric constant speed propeller, three bladed.

The second fighter, the Heinkel 112U, is smaller. The wing span is thirty feet, length twenty-nine and one-half feet. It is fitted with the same motors as used in the 109 and also the smaller Junkers 650 horse power Jumo 210 engine. Speeds of the 112U, depending on power, range from 312 miles per hour to 410 miles per hour. It has drooping ailerons and full flap, and lands at seventy-two miles an hour.

These standard fighters compare with the American Seversky P-35 and Curtiss P-36 machines. The Seversky with a 950 horse power twin Wasp motor does 308 miles an hour and the Curtiss with the 1,100 horse power Wasp flies at 312 miles per hour. Both land at approximately eighty miles an hour. The big difference is that the German planes have fuel tanks for 700 mile ranges while the American machines fuel for 1,200 miles.

Both American planes weigh approximately 5,500 pounds gross. The Heinkel grosses at 4,900 pounds.

American Bombers Better.

Germany has no bombers to compare with Boeing B-17 and B-15 types or the newer Consolidated four motored long range machines. But the three German machines compare to the Douglas B-18 which has a top speed of 240 miles an hour and a range of 3,000 miles, gross weight of 25,000 pounds and two 1,200 horse power motors.

First of these is the Heinkel 111K. Its wing span is seventy-three feet compared with the Douglas' ninety-five feet, and it weighs 27,000 pounds gross. With two of the Daimler-Benz motors of 1,200 horse power it has a top speed of 285 miles an hour. The 111K carries 4,000 pounds of bombs for 2,200 miles at 210 miles an hour.

Second is the Junkers Ju 86K. Wing span is seventy-three feet, length sixty feet, gross weight 18,000 pounds. With Junkers Jumo 205 Diesel motors top speed is 248 miles an hour; with the more powerful Daimler-Benz engines it is 280 miles an hour with 2,200 pounds of bombs. Range is 1,600 miles.

Third comes the Dornier Do 17 bomber. This machine is smaller, span sixty feet, length fifty-five and gross weight 18,000 pounds. Speed with the Daimler-Benz engines is 292 miles an hour at 13,000 feet. Range with 2,200 pounds is 1,800 miles.

Faster Planes Being Built.

New and improved fighter designs are among those going into production at this time. They are supposed to have speeds of 430 miles an hour. One of the newest Heinkel fighters flew at 463 miles an hour and still more recently an improved Messerschmidt raised this to 469 miles an hour.

These speeds are far ahead of the best prototypes that the American air corps has under consideration at this time.

NAZI PLANE BREAKS MARKS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, July 30.—A new Junkers bombing plane today established a world record by carrying a load of two tons over a distance of 1,232 miles at an average speed of 311 miles an hour.

The flight also smashed two other world records for flights over similar distances, with a load of one ton and without a load. Italy held the records with a speed of 292 miles an hour.

The new Junkers all metal plane used in the flight is equipped with two motors, each developing 1,200 horsepower. Germans described the plane as faster than most foreign pursuit ships.

Charts depict increase in speed and range of military airplanes since the first one was purchased in 1909. The effective flying range of fighting ships has been increased to forty times the 1909 range. Speeds have been stepped up to well over 350 miles an hour.

Wings Span 3 Decades

Dayton, O., July 30 [Special].—Army flyers will celebrate the thirtieth anniversary of their air corps on Wednesday. The first military plane, purchased by the signal corps from the Wright brothers, for whom the flying field here is named, was contracted for on Aug. 2, 1909. The contract specified a heavier than air machine capable of carrying two persons weighing a total of 350 pounds and fuel enough for a 125 mile flight.

According to Sing Sing prison officials he probably will never again be well enough to resume his job.

POLAND TO BUY ARMS WITHOUT HELP OF BRITAIN

Failure to Obtain Gold Annoys Warsaw.

BY ALEX SMALL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WARSAW, July 30.—Col. Adam Koc, Poland's financial emissary to London, has returned to Warsaw with Great Britain's promise of $40,000,000 credits. However, the Polish government is far from being pleased with Britain's aid to its ally, Warsaw political and financial circles said today.

The Poles maintained the British are being niggardly toward the nation which likely will be the first target of attack if war begins. The Poles complained the British have not given more than half of the fund which they had hoped to obtain.

Irked Over Form of Loan.

Political circles were annoyed at the form of the loan. It provides that the Poles spend the money in Britain. Col. Koc was sent to London to get credits as well as gold which the Poles were to spend anywhere as they might see fit.

The Poles chiefly wanted gold to spend in America. They said they had learned that Britain could not supply them with certain commodities—airplane parts for instance—for at least two years. The Poles said they could obtain these supplies in America within three months or even less.

The official Gazetta Polska said Poland is strong enough financially to take care of itself even though substantial aid from the British would have been welcomed. Britain's failure to give this aid will not prevent Poland from procuring adequate armament, the newspaper declared.

Charge Financial Plot.

Warsaw bankers said the British made an effort to drive the Polish zloty [national currency] off its so-called gold standard and to bring it inside the sterling bloc of currency.

The British apparently wanted Poland to lift its restriction on the free exchange of currency, the bankers said. They asserted the British anticipated such action would have resulted in a drop in the value of the zloty, which would have constituted devaluation.

Thereupon, they continued, Britain would have been willing to use part of its exchange stabilization fund to maintain the zloty at its new lower level and the zloty would have become a satellite of the pound.

Acceptance of this plan was to be the price for a large loan to Poland, the bankers said. Acting on instructions from Warsaw, however, Col. Koc stood firm against the British plan and in consequence got only a small loan.

Recall Hunger Years.

Polish resistance to devaluation is based on popular sentiment. Almost all Poles have painful memories of the hunger years when they had an inflated currency just after the world war. Today they prefer any hardship connected with an "overvalued" money to the possible benefits which might result from currency manipulation.

BRITAIN DENIES IT WILL ASK POLES TO YIELD DANZIG

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 30.—The foreign office tonight denied that a British economic mission has been requested to learn whether Poland could expand the port of Gdynia and so dispense with the Free City of Danzig.

The denial followed publication of such a statement in the Stockholm Aftonbladet. It was attributed to a British professor of economics named Riley. He was reported to have said he was a member of a mission which is going to Gdynia.

"Several members of the British cabinet doubt whether Danzig is of such vital importance to Poland as the Poles themselves maintain," Riley was quoted saying.

The statement created a stir in London. The foreign office said Riley was not known to officials in London and declared the statement was mischievous in effect if not in purpose. It added that the British will support Poland in meeting any act of aggression.

50 Jewish Exiles Barred from Haven in Salvador

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador, July 30.—This nation today prohibited the landing of fifty Jewish refugees due here Tuesday on the German ship Portland. The passports of these passengers bear fraudulent visas by honorary consuls in Budapest and Amsterdam who charged $500 per person. These consuls have been discharged and regular consuls have been instructed not to visa the passports of refugees without previous consultation with the foreign office.

STUDY PROBLEM OF CONNECTIONS FOR SUPERWAYS

Engineers on Inspection Tour of New York.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 30.—Chicago and Cook county engineers, from a study of New York's superhighways, conclude that the projected Chicago system will require rather elaborate connections with existing streets if the improvements are to deliver the express service that is expected of them.

From information gathered here the visitors believe that the service motorists will enjoy from the Chicago system will be directly in proportion to the facility for prompt exit from and entrance to the fast pavements. This conclusion will modify the Chicago plans.

The system, these experts now are sure, must not consist solely of three or more simple routes radiating from the loop without facilities for the assembly and the dissemination of the trafic.

Eye Business Area Problem.

The engineers—Duncan M. Campbell and Harry W. Lochner of the Cook county highway department and Le Roy H. Cather, consultant for the city of Chicago—are concerned particularly with a problem they now foresee in the Chicago central business district.

The magnitude of this problem was appreciated when it was discovered that in the operation of New York's major express pavements one lane of uninterrupted fast trafic will feed a capacity load to six connecting lanes of slower trafic with surface street interruptions.

Furthermore, it was found that Chicago's vehicular trafic to and from the central business district, without the expected increase, already is more concentrated than in New York, where local trafic causes congestion.

400,000 Cars Enter Daily.

The police trafic department reported that approximately 500,000 motor vehicles daily enter and leave Manhattan, an island ten miles long and about two miles wide. In Chicago 400,000 cars daily enter and leave a downtown area of one and a half square miles.

Under tentative plans for three superhighway routes, one northwest, one west, and one southwest from the loop, there will be twelve express lanes in each direction. To disperse this crowd in the central business district, using New York's experience as a basis of calculations, will require 144 ramps of one lane each leading to and from the loop area.

The Chicago Plan commission in a 1929 study conceived an elevated rectangle around the central business district as a terminal for a superhighway system. With this new calculation of entrance and exit requirements, such a rectangle will require ramps to connect almost all of the downtown streets.

The trafic distribution problem will not be limited to the loop. At the city limits of Chicago there is a daily trafic of approximately 300,000 cars.

Consider Future Course.

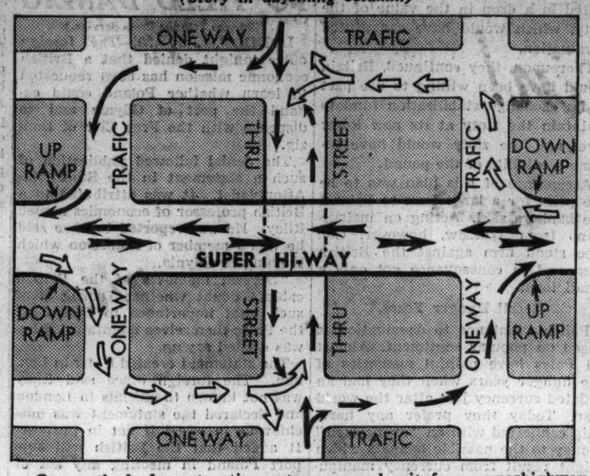
In the New York area parkways with continuous grade separation carry the heavy loads to far beyond the periphery of the built up neighborhoods. Maj. George A. Quinlan, Cook county highway superintendent, is considering a similar plan for Chicago, not as part of the program authorized by a recent act of the legislature, but as a correlative construction program for which federal aid might be obtained. He would dump the superhighway loads into forest preserves and disperse them on parkways to reach the state highways beyond the suburbs.

Between the city limits and the central business district, in distances ranging from seven to twelve miles, there are to be a limited number of connections with surface streets on which main arteries of cross trafic may be reached.

From observations here the engineers believe that such connections should be one block away from the arterial. One neighboring street [for one way trafic only] would carry trafic to the superhighway and another neighboring street would carry trafic from the superhighway.

Connection with a Superhighway

(Story in adjoining column.)



One method of constructing entry way and exit for a superhighway without disturbing express trafic on the high speed drive. White arrows show how cars would leave superhighway to get onto a thoroughfare which runs at right angles to it on a different grade. Smaller black arrows show how car would get onto the superhighway without disturbing the express trafic, which is shown in the larger black arrows.

Summer Colony Marooned; Roads Flooded in Virginia

Harrisonburg, Va., July 30 (AP)—Flood marooned members of the Rawley Springs summer colony shared limited food supplies tonight. More than 100 persons were isolated at the resort near here by swollen streams which have raged for two days among Shenandoah ridges. Roads were blocked at scores of places by high water and washouts were reported at several places in the mountains.

Charge Japanese Destroy Costa Rica Oyster Beds

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica, July 30.—Charges that Japanese fishermen are destroying oyster beds with an unrevealed substance are under investigation by the Costa Rican government. Documentary evidence turned over to investigators alleged that Japanese fishermen along the Pacific coast of Costa Rica have resorted to this sabotage to eliminate competition from mother-of-pearl industries in Japan.

WPA CHIEFS ACT TO CUT COSTS OF ADMINISTRATION

Economies Start Today Over State.

The Work Projects administration in Illinois will start today to trim administrative costs. This was announced last night by Charles E. Miner, state WPA administrator, after a conference with his seven district directors at Starved Rock, in La Salle county. Under orders from Washington, the state WPA must cut by 20 per cent its $200,000 monthly administrative costs.

Miner said the savings will be effected with the least interference with necessary work. Unimportant statistical work will be eliminated, saving clerical costs. Many WPA area supervisors must give up offices, saving rents. Various township projects will be consolidated, saving supervisors' pay because consolidated projects will have one supervisor instead of three or four.

Urges More Erosion Projects.

At the Starved Rock meeting Miner urged that more projects relating to soil erosion be considered. The WPA is now enabled, he said, to work on erosion projects on private land if the land adjoins public land requiring erosion remedies.

Miner also urged the development of projects for the construction of small dams, particularly downstate south of Peoria. In some areas, he said, the subsurface water level has dropped alarmingly, and where well water formerly could be struck at forty feet it is now necessary to go down as far as 100 feet.

Community Benefits Cited.

The construction of dams, he said, would tend to conserve surface water and result in many economic benefits to the communities affected.

Meanwhile, pending further instructions from Washington, there will be no more dismissals of WPA workers who have been on the pay rolls eighteen months or more. Some 4,000 were dropped under the rule applying to that type of worker. The order was suspended Saturday because of action by the United States senate.

BRITISH DEMONSTRATE REFUELING IN FLIGHT FOR ATLANTIC PLANES

LONDON, July 30 (AP).—Refueling in flight which British trans-Atlantic airliners plan to use when they inaugurate service next Saturday was demonstrated successfully today.

A twenty-four ton flying boat filled its tanks from a flying fuel tanker over Southampton. The boat let out a cable which was caught by another let down from the tanker. The boat then hauled in the cable to which a pipeline was attached and took in 200 gallons of fuel.

Sir Alan Cobham, managing director of Flight Fueling, Ltd., said he hoped to establish depots throughout the world to make possible 3,000 mile nonstop flights with large payloads.

COUNCIL WILL ACT ON NON-RESIDENT POLICE FOR GARY

A proposal of the Gary civil service board to hire out-of-town men as well as Gary men for the police department will be aired at a meeting of the Gary city council tonight.

The board, whose members are Edgar Blake Jr., chairman; Rossman Sawyer, and Irving Frush, advertised recently for applications for police jobs, stating that non-Gary residents from elsewhere in Indiana were eligible. Protests were made in the city council, in the police department, and elsewhere on the ground that policemen should be from Gary.

POLICE BREAK UP SECRET DRILL OF IRISH ARMY BAND

LONDON, July 30 (AP).—While the exodus of Irishmen from England continued a flying squadron of policemen in Belfast, Northern Ireland, surprised an Irish Republican Army band secretly drilling on a nearby mountain today. The leader of the band, an Irish republican who had been sought for several months, was arrested.

Police said hundreds of suspects had already fled England, and the Irish mail train ran two sections again tonight to carry an extra 200 passengers out of the country. An earlier train also was crowded. The exodus began yesterday after passage of the new law permitting deportation of terrorist suspects.

"Campaign Will Go On."

DUBLIN, July 30 (AP).—The first I. R. A. deportees to reach Ireland told reporters tonight "The campaign will go on." Dennis Murphy, one of the deportees, said "We've had only 100 casualties—volunteers of the army sent to prison."

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN
Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait. Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

THE CONSTITUTION FINDS A DEFENDER.

Mr. Roosevelt has been in great distress of spirit through fear that the Hatch bill may be unconstitutional. This is the bill, passed by both houses, which forbids all but the most exalted federal jobholders to engage in partisan politics. The bill would prevent many deserving Democrats from sitting in the forthcoming convention.

It is interesting to discover that the President has not dropped the word "unconstitutional" from his vocabulary, as many had supposed. To be sure, the application of the word, as he uses it, is somewhat limited. The chief executive, it appears, may invalidate a bill if he thinks it contravenes the constitution, but the Supreme court may not do so. This arrangement has the merit of convenience. The President may overthrow an act of congress without explaining why it is in violation of the constitution. The court always gives its reasons and is morally obligated to respect those reasons in future. It is thus relatively easy for a President to invalidate legislation when he suspects it is in his political interest to do so.

Of course no one will suggest that the President in this matter has been anything but selfless. No thought of a third term convention has entered his mind. He has said, in fact, that he agrees wholeheartedly with the purposes of the bill. His hesitation derives solely from his deep, abiding, and inflexible regard for constitutional tradition. This is altogether admirable, even though it places Mr. Roosevelt in the category which he himself created of the "yes-but" men. Mr. Roosevelt approves the objectives of the Hatch bill, but questions the means, an attitude of mind which he has frequently denounced as despicable.

The apparent inconsistency disappears upon closer examination. The yes-but men who deserve denunciation are those who find some good in Mr. Roosevelt's purported aims but can find little merit in his measures. These persons can readily be distinguished from the yes-but men like Mr. Roosevelt who approve of an aim but question the means of achieving it. The difference is so obvious that it would be little short of insulting to the intelligence to point it out. Accordingly, we refrain.

FIRST MYSTERY STORY?

Readers of detective fiction, as Miss Dorothy Sayers, if memory serves, once pointed out, will find in Judges iii., 14-26, what may well be the oldest example of the murder mystery in literature. It was written some 3,000 years ago in a leisurely age and accordingly the story is told in about 300 words; now that time has become so much more precious the telling would require at least 40,000 words and maybe 70,000.

It seems that the children of Israel served Eglon, king of Moab, for eighteen years and didn't like it. There was a chap named Ehud who decided he was going to put an end to the unpleasant relationship. Accordingly, Ehud got himself the job of taking the customary tribute to King Eglon, but before leaving on the mission he bought himself a two-edged dagger which he hid on his right thigh, under the folds of his clothing. That is an important clew. Ehud was of the tribe of Benjamin and, like many of his clan was left-handed, but naturally King Eglon didn't know that.

In due time Ehud delivered the gift and started for home with his party, but after going a short way he turned back alone and found an opportunity to whisper to the king that he had a secret to confide. King Eglon is described as "a very fat man"; he may have been a bit avaricious and didn't want to divvy with any of his courtiers if the "secret" proved to be something of value. At any rate, the king arranged things so that none of his attendants was around when the interview took place in the summer parlor.

That was just what Ehud wanted. No doubt he gesticulated freely with his right hand to disarm [the pun is accidental] any suspicion. When Eglon came close enough Ehud drew the dagger with his left hand and stuck the king in the stomach. It was a fine murder, nicely conceived and neatly executed, and with just the right touch of horror, for it seems that Ehud drove his weapon so hard that the haft went in after the blade and he couldn't get it out.

This must have been disconcerting, but he retained his presence of mind. He locked the doors connecting the summer parlor with the rest of the establishment and left by the outside door. The king's aftendants decided that Eglon didn't want to be disturbed and made no attempt to break in for quite a while. By the time they did push in Ehud was well on his way. He "had passed beyond the quarries and escaped into Seirath."

To be sure this isn't a complete murder yarn in the modern style because there is no detective except the anonymous author, but the story at many points does foreshadow the whole library of criminal mysteries. Murder is committed by stealth, in an unusual way, and the criminal ingeniously covers his tracks. There is an appropriate admixture of horror and suspense. There is the room locked from the inside, that favorite device of the mystery writer, and a baffled officialdom which strikingly resembles the flat-feet of the standard detective story. The omission of the detective is not exactly an unmixed evil.

So far as we know, this is the granddaddy of all the mystery stories. Does any one know an older one?

LORD SAMUEL PROPOSES SETTLEMENT.

Lord Samuel told the house of lords he hoped the new British ambassador to Washington, Lord Lothian, would be able to make some progress toward a solution of the debt to the United States, which he described as a grave matter. He said that the question of British honor was involved in unfulfilled obligations "solemnly undertaken," that the default concerned Britain's financial credit, and that failure to pay had a strong political bearing upon opinion in America.

The political effect of the failure to pay is not unfavorable to the United States at this moment. The default is a check upon some proponents of the subjection of the United States to British and French foreign policy. Such checks are much needed at this time. To the extent that the unpaid debts help in that, Americans will find some compensation for their financial loss. The reference to credit is one in self-interest, anticipating another emergency in which bad faith would be a bar to assistance. However, that need not detract from the importance of Lord Samuel's concern for the honor of his country.

When consideration has been given to the extenuating circumstances pleaded in excuse for the British default there remains the fact that all the means of satisfying the just claims of the creditor have been neither exhausted nor even examined. The first difficulties were accepted as the final ones. It is true that other nations for whose obligations Great Britain was responsible also defaulted to it. The transfer problem has been fully and duly explained. The difficulties have been too much emphasized and have been regarded as conclusive.

A private debtor who could be brought into court could not possibly escape upon the assumptions advanced by these debtor nations. Both Britain and France have possessions, as has been repeatedly but fruitlessly pointed out, which can be applied in settlement if no other manner of payment could be found. These possessions are the islands off the American coast of military value to the defenses of the United States.

In the uncertainties of this, and what may prove to be the uncertainties of other years, the boundaries of empire will be in dispute and jeopardy. If one were to yield the point that the islands in French and British hands do not threaten the security of the United States it could not be further conceded that they inevitably will remain with their present proprietors. Title to them might depend upon the outcome of the war which every one dreads. The United States would be obliged to forestall any such transfer as spoils or compensation by seizing them in advance. That might very well be a hostile act, bringing the United States into conflict with the powers claiming the islands.

If Great Britain wishes to show good faith it will itself make the proposal our Anglophile government refuses to advance. A strong leverage would then be available to force France to do likewise. It may be a long time if Great Britain and France escape from their present problems before another opportunity presents itself so favorable to such a settlement. Until these two debtors do more than protest their inability to make payments of any kind their good faith will not be admitted. Lord Samuel is an influential British statesman and his words may have some effect on British procedure.

Editorial of the Day

UNWRITTEN LAW.

[Cleveland Plain Dealer.]

Not more than once or twice in the history of the United States has a man appeared who might be called indispensable to the nation.

Washington was such a man. Without him there would have been no republic.

There is much to be said in support of the thesis that Lincoln was such a man. Some will differ as to the soundness of the argument.

These two, at most, and no others. Individuals sometimes come to consider themselves indispensable but their contemporaries know better.

One would dislike to believe that the great democratic experiment in the United States has become so shaky in the course of years that now only one American exists in all this vast expanse of country capable of preserving it.

The assumption is ridiculous on its face. That so many party men are now voicing it indicates nothing else quite so much as the power of partisan fervor to blight common sense.

President Roosevelt has not said he would accept, much less seek, a third term in the presidency. But the monotonous repetition of the third term demand by Democrats high in the executive's favor and powerful in the party comes nearer and nearer convincing the public that the President has it in mind to tilt with the precedent that limits the executive to two terms.

The first President set the anti-third term precedent, and by his generation the act was accepted almost as an amendment to the constitution. The third President, Jefferson, confirmed the precedent, argued its importance to a democratic state and fixed it as unwritten law. Even as headstrong and precedent defying a President as Andrew Jackson saw the wisdom of the Washington-Jefferson precedent and willingly retired after eight years.

A century after the birth of the republic the house of representatives adopted a resolution which called any departure from the no-third-term policy as "unwise, unpatriotic, and fraught with peril to our free institutions." For more than half a century the letter of this pronouncement has been obeyed. Its violation now would confess loss of faith in democracy.

Each political generation produces its own leaders who carry the torch for an allotted period and in turn pass it to their successors. This is the democratic way, and for a century and a half it has been found to work satisfactorily.

It is inconceivable that Franklin D. Roosevelt could be reëlected next year. He can doubtless get the Democratic nomination if he wants it.

If he takes it, two or three probabilities seem fairly obvious. The first is that he will wreck the party which has twice sent him to the White House. The next President will then be a Republican. The three-cornered battle of 1912 will be reënacted, but this time the beneficiary will not be the party of Grover Cleveland and Woodrow Wilson.

These are considerations which thoughtful Americans and thoughtful Democrats as democrats should take seriously to heart as the lines begin to form for 1940. A continuation of Mr. Roosevelt in command at Washington is not indispensable to any worth while purpose.

SAD DUTY.

Visitor—Are you the executive officer? I have a grandson serving on board.

LAST LOOK AT A LANDMARK.

Now comes an open season for memories of the Great Northern hotel, which is being groomed for the executioner. First of all, let us remark that this tearing down era in Chicago brings a slightly uncanny feeling to one who has lived through nearly fifty years of its building up period, which seemed to come to an abrupt end in 1930. It causes brooding over bygone glories and a morbid sense of desolation. The Romans must have felt that way from 400 A. D. down the centuries.

If the Great Northern was a scene of high life pomp and night life revelry in its early years, starting at 1893, its ecstasy must have been brief, for when we first got acquainted with the place, in 1903, it was running along at a modest and conservative pace. We have interviewed a few celebrities there and among them, we remember, was Sarah Bernhardt, in a room full of flowers and pet animals, including two young chickens, dyed unnatural colors, which had been presented to her by admirers in the corn belt. The Divine One was at the peak of her form that afternoon, and her poses for the photographers would have made Hollywood, if existent, furiously jealous.

But most of our memories of the Great Northern [aside from Mary Rutledge, public stenographer, who was probably related to Ann of the Lincoln legends] are concerned with the theater. That story is too long to tell now, and much of it is unimportant, but there were some historic highlights: the Drama Players, Chicago's greatest effort toward an art theater and quite brilliant; the first Russian ballet, "Scheherazade," imported by Morris Gest, with Gertrude Hoffman as star; the Moscow Art theater's engagements; and the long run operettas, in the "whoopee" period.

O, yes; one thing more: the Great Northern was the only theater to which we ever took our dog. We left her with the box office staff, and her yowlings for us almost broke up the show.

REVERIE OF A BACHELOR.

The wench that I would woo must be Allergic to all males but me,
And show a lively interest
In ev'ry oft repeated jest
That I consider laughable;
She must be meek and affable;
Not too slender, not too stout,
The goal of ev'ry movie scout
Must be the bride that I would book;
And yes, of course, the dame must cook.
All the above will I revoke

In Praise of Hollyhocks.

Summer touches the wounds of living with such gentle, tender hands. She heals them with a balm of soft rain and warm sunshine. And then, with a final gracious gesture, she hides the jagged scars with the gay hollyhocks, flinging a screen of beauty before that which is ugly and harsh. They are friendly souls, the hollyhocks, bowing and waving with each passing breeze, and tilting their gay bonnets to the sun, so that its warm rays may touch their absurd little faces. They lend themselves to all kinds of enchantment. Children steal their petals for glowing cups to hold ambrosial brews, and the great, growling bumblebees flash gold and black above their honey laden chalices. They are a rainbow of color, and their pot of gold is the beauty they create, where once was only shabby utility.

What Columnists Look Like.

Once I met "B. L. T." on duty at the head of the stairs in your old building. When he told me who he was I was astounded.

"I'd suppose you'd have red velvet carpet and green plush sofas," I said.

He had no carpet at all, sat on a stool, was awfully clean and wholesome looking, and wore a blue shirt, a typical union printer to my way of thinking.

The Old Walton Place Gang.

Your mention of literary salons in Chicago [July 24] recalls a three story brick building at 8 West Walton place, home of Jacob A. Loeb, who died in 1921. His front door was never locked, and almost nightly, at any hour, would come people like Burton Rascoe, Sherwood Anderson, Ben Hecht, Emanuel Carnevalli, John Reed, Mrs. William Vaughn Moody, Maxwell Bodenheim, Tennessee Mitchell, Harriet Monroe, Max Eastman, Robert Herrick, Clarence Darrow, Charles Ashley [an English poet], Frederick Starr, and Emerson Hough.

Informality extended to bringing your own food and cooking it there. It was from this group that H. L. Mencken got the idea that Chicago was "the literary capital of America."

You Met Your Friends in the 1890s.

For dinner, at the Richelieu hotel on Michigan avenue, with "Cardinal" Bemis as host; Kinsley's on Adams street opposite the postoffice; the Wellington hotel, Jackson and Wabash; Henrici's, in its present location; the Union restaurant, on Randolph between Clark and Dearborn; and Rector's, at Monroe and Clark.

For steaks and chops, men only, at Schlogl's on Wells street [then 5th avenue]; Schimferman's on Madison; Metzger's on Monroe; Billy Boyle in the alley north of Madison between Dearborn and Clark; Chapin & Gore's, where the Majestic theater now stands; and Mangler's on La Salle between Washington and Madison.

No dizzy blondes in the bars. Those were the days!

I was thinking that if instead of calling "Regs-o-line" through the alleys those guys would say something original, like "Rags, old iron," they might do some business.

SOME USES OF DIATHERMY.

EARLIER in the month we mentioned the importance of massage. It was pointed out that both physicians and laymen, in their demand for spectacular, quick cures, have neglected many physical aids to healing including heat and electricity.

No one would wish to hark back to the period when the medical man—in order to be in style—carried with him a "battery" for the administration of "shocks" to his patients. Those were the days when the therapeutic use of electricity was little understood. Because a muscle could be made to twitch by this means its beneficial power was exaggerated. Progress has been slow but sure. With more knowledge have come fewer claims. Today applications are made only for specific purposes, and the force employed is under accurate and careful regulation.

It was observed some years ago that short, electrical waves produced heat within the tissues of the human body. In fact, early experimenters suffered what was equivalent to heatstroke on subjecting themselves to this type of energy. The thought then was expressed: "If we can raise the temperature in this manner, may it not be helpful in certain ailments—far more so than hot baths?" Next came the query: "Can the medium be controled or localized so as not to cause general symptoms tantamount to sunstroke?"

A definite answer now has been supplied. When the human thigh, for example, is exposed to the electromagnetic field with abbreviated wave lengths of six to twenty-four meters, the temperature of the upper leg will be elevated with safety to 105 or 106 degrees Fahrenheit. This is accomplished by encircling the limb with an induction cable or coiling it on the surface. In clinical trials this has been found to be of marked aid in reducing pain and swelling and in stimulating the circulation. The only contraindication is where tissue injury has occurred, and there is danger of hemorrhage incident to the engorgement of the blood vessels.

Among the disorders which may be benefited is bursitis. If the pad, say at the shoulder, has been damaged, the current will reach the deeper structures and accelerate absorption within the swollen area. Even in chronic cases many patients are able to avoid surgery by twenty minute treatments each day for two or three weeks.

In inflammation of the tendons about a joint, particularly the wrist, knee, or ankle, the ideal plan is, first, to render the parts motionless so as to insure rest, and, after a few days, to give a quarter of an hour daily of diathermy.

Again, in lumbago or muscular rheumatism hot fomentations will afford much relief but, if the condition does not yield speedily or recurs periodically, high frequency therapy may be resorted to. Almost every doctor has observed its salutary effects in chronic arthritis where the objective is to increase the circulation and foster the opening of new capillaries in places in which destructive processes have long held sway. In these afflictions hot water in any form [packs, baths, etc.] will promote rehabilitation. Then as the patient acquires a tolerance and pain recedes, short wave applications are begun. The dose is graded with care and the initial exposure is brief and light. Later a full period may be allowed with great advantage.

Sinus disease always is bothersome and many victims have flare-ups two or three times a year. Certain adequately supervised studies recently have demonstrated that improvement will follow heat penetration of these infected rooms within the skull. The drawback lies in the fact that the high temperature in many instances is not sufficient to effect complete recovery. It is possible, however, to restore one wall of the sinus so that the amount of deterioration is lowered materially.

The end is not yet. Persistent investigation is bringing proof that these mechanical devices are remedial agents of the highest order.

BRAIN GROWS TO MATURITY.

H. T. writes: If the soft spot on a baby's head is very small when it is born and closes entirely at 7 or 8 months, does this mean that mental development will be retarded, or that the brain has ceased growing? Is there any significance in the early closing of the opening?

REPLY.

Not at all. Both brain and skull bones have a steady growth until maturity. Mental expansion should continue throughout life.

SUN GLASSES.

J. G. writes: What sun glasses are best? Is the cheaper variety of green or brown "glass" harmful to the eyes?

REPLY.

Not if the lenses are plain and even. Whatever color is most restful to your eyes may be used.

IT'S ALL RIGHT.

Mrs. M. S. writes: What is the best medical opinion on giving injections against hay fever to a woman during the early months of pregnancy?

REPLY.

WORDING CONTROLS.

Chicago, July 27 [Legal Friend of the People].—Uncle died leaving his estate to his wife and daughter. Clause 3 of will recites: At death of my said wife and daughter I will and direct that my said executor sell and convert into money all my estate, real and personal, remaining unconsumed and pay the same to my nine nephews and nieces, or their legal representatives [names given].

1. Four of the nephews and nieces have died since the will was made. Are the wives or children of these deceased nephews and nieces legally entitled to share in the estate?

2. Is it necessary for the heirs to have an attorney represent them in closing this estate, including sale of real and personal property? N. G.

1. Depends on whether the will is so worded that the shares of their parents are "vested." It seems probable that the answer is yes, but the fact that the gift is contained merely in a direction to sell leaves the point in some doubt.

2. Ordinarily it is not necessary for the beneficiaries to be separately represented.

COMPARING TWO HOSPITALS.

Chicago, July 28. — The letter signed "L. S." compares the medical staff of the Chicago State hospital with that at Cook County. The state hospital is an institution for the detention and treatment of persons mentally ill—insane—and is manned by a group of physicians who devote their time to this institution, except a few consultants and attending physicians specializing in neuropsychiatry who utilize the hospital and its patients for teaching medical students. The full time physicians are paid by the state.

The Cook County hospital is medically manned by a very few [some ten or twelve only] full time or nearly full time physicians, who are paid by the county, and by several hundred volunteer, unpaid physicians, who, in their capacities as attending and consulting physicians, utilize this hospital and its patients for teaching medical students. This large group of physicians comprises many leading specialists in all branches of medicine and, as just stated, render services to the patients without monetary compensation, and are glad to do so. They donate services worth hundreds of thousands—yes, millions—of dollars annually and incidentally are the only ones working there who donate their time, knowledge, and services without pay.

Regarding L. S.'s remark about "insulin and metrazol, 80 per cent of the patients suffering from mental diseases could be cured, etc." it is evident that L. S. is discussing something he knows nothing about. No such high percentage are helped [much less cured] by any method of treatment of any of the various forms of insanity. "ICE TEA."

BUBBLE GUM AND WAR.

Chicago, July 27.—I want to protest against a particular brand of penny bubble gum sold to children in candy stores and delicatessens throughout the city. The odd name of the article is "The World in Arms!" and the wrapper is a panorama of bombs, airplanes, ships and cannon going at it, both barrels, in an explosive battle scene. With the gum the child receives a card depicting airplanes, iron cavalry, fortifications, and what have you!

So that no mistake may be made concerning the intent, there is printed on the card and on the wrapper: "Can America Maintain Peace with the World in Arms?" The implied answer, of course, is that America will have one devil of a time maintaining peace with the world in arms! A few years back I used to collect bubble gum cards with baseball players' pictures, but what warlike element is now being allowed to implant itself in the minds of our children?

STEVE ALLEN.

THE AMERICAN CREED.

Hinsdale, Ill., July 27.—The American Creed, published in THE TRIBUNE as part of the speech by Charles W. Hadley at the Wood Dale centennial celebration of the founding of Du Page county, is, in my opinion, as fine an expression of what true Americans do, and should believe, as has been given to us since the founding of this country. I think it is as necessary to the preservation of America as the Apostles' Creed has been to the preservation of Christianity. It ought to be taught in every school in the country as insurance against this nation ever again being ensnared by those high up in the New Deal.

HORACE B. HENCH.

THE WORKING WIFE'S SIDE OF IT.

Chicago, July 27.—I have read your article on husbands' and wives' holding jobs and drawing two fat salaries. The writer advocates a law that no married woman may work as long as she has an able bodied husband.

A woman whom I know well was left fatherless at 2½ years of age. Her mother worked to support herself and daughter, sending her through high school and caring for her mother, who lived to be 96, but by so doing became an invalid.

Then it became the daughter's turn, with the added responsibility of caring for a widowed aunt. Her salary being insufficient for the increasing doctor bills, after some ten years she married a man with a moderate salary, continuing her work for twenty-five years, forgoing the joy of a family to give comfort to those who would otherwise have been on relief.

Would it have been better in this case—not an exceptional one—had the wife been barred from work by the proposed law?

Having watched the numerous WPA workers waste their time visiting with each other for hours, I believe THE TRIBUNE would do more effective work by starting a campaign against WPA graft and letting the question of married women working rest.

CITIZEN.

TIME OUT FOR JOB HUNTING.

Chicago, July 28.—Your inquiring reporter apparently finds a consensus of opinion that reliefers should work forty hours a week. Perhaps a statement from a WPA reliefer would be of interest.

No doubt every able bodied reliefer should work. But there is only one way in which the taxpayers will be relieved of relief taxation, and that is for the reliefers to get private employment. Obviously, to get private employment, reliefers must look for private jobs. Looking for work requires time. If reliefers are engaged eight hours a day on work relief jobs and must work forty hours per week, no time is available for job hunting.

Under the present law WPA teachers spend fifty-seven hours per month under a supervised loafing plan—shovel leaning without a shovel!

WPA TEACHER.

MR. LEVIN'S APPOINTMENT.

Chicago, July 27.—The appointment of Samuel Levin, head of the Chicago board of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers, to membership on the board of education will be applauded by every civic minded citizen.

By honoring him Chicago also honors the thousands of men and women members of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers, who by their spirit of fair play and sacrifice have gained for themselves and Amalgamated the respect of the leading employers in industry.

The new member will mean honesty and better government in the public schools. Chicago will not regret it.

SEE OUR AUG. 20 GRAPHIC SECTION.

Washington, D. C., July 27.—Your survey of French possessions made in THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE of July 23 gave to the general public some very important information. While the French question is of great value, the British position is of even greater consequence. For some time I have been trying to find out the exact proportions of British possessions. Some authentic documents place them at 12½ million square miles. Others at 13 million, which I believe is more nearly correct when her arctic possessions are taken into account. Many omit the Falkland Islands also.

Have you at any time made a survey of those possessions? If you have I would certainly appreciate a copy of that survey. If you have not, your paper would render a good service to the reading public by making the actual facts known. To those who wonder why our debts aren't paid it will be of infinite value.

ERNEST LUNDEEN,
United States Senator, Minnesota.

ANOTHER "DISGUSTED" READER.

Chicago, July 28.—THE TRIBUNE should be commended for bringing to light through its recent articles the so-called "double pay rolls" whereby husband and wife are employed on city jobs. Those people charged with the task of relieving the unemployment situation could find a fertile field in recommending legislation that would change existing civil service laws so as to make such a situation impossible.

Another matter that could bear looking into in this same connection is the matter of salaries which are paid to such employés. It would be interesting to hear such employés' attempt to justify their position.

DISGUSTED.

MAIL SURVEY OF VALUE.

Chicago, July 28.—We are much interested in the survey covering mail service to various cities and to our suburbs as written up by your Charles Leavelle.

This material will be of great help in solving our mailing problems and for the improvement of our mail service to our constituency. If you have additional information along this line or if the material is to be printed in pamphlet form, we should like to have copies. In the meantime we are carefully mounting the articles as clipped from THE TRIBUNE.

BUT HE DOESN'T PLAY CARDS.

Elmhurst, Ill., July 28.—Labor-Dictator John Lewis, thwarted in some of his efforts to turn peaceful industry into bloody chaos by Vice President Garner and other patriotic legislators, lets loose a blast. He alleges Mr. Garner drinks whisky and plays cards.

This line of conduct must appear pretty wayward to one who does nothing worse than foment strikes, encourage striking dupes to defy Supreme court rulings, and to kill fellow men who wish to work. But we mustn't forget: Lewis does NOT play cards.

Front Views and Profiles
By June Provines

Some canoeists on the Fox river above St. Charles heard the voice of an impassioned swain eloquently admiring the beauty of the night.

"Stars, stars, millions of stars," he was saying. "Billions and trillions of stars. Isn't it wonderful, dear?"

In the Morning Mail.

Dear Miss Provines: On these warm summer nights I love to sit on our garden porch while waiting for that "sly old gentleman from Featherbed lane" to sprinkle a bit of "dream-sand" across my eyes.

It's the most soothing and restful thing in the world to watch the slow procession of stars across the southern sky. . . . All is so silent and so vast out there . . . and nothing changes that can be noticed by the casual observer except for a wispy cloud blown about by the wind, or the occasional startling appearance of a meteor. The silence and dreamy atmosphere of the night wake the imagination into thoughts like this:

METEOR.

An angel's silver
Tear falls on the black face of Night, only to be Daintily brushed aside by
A wandering cloud. . . .

Sincerely,

Tea Reveals Engagement of Peggy Hixon

BY JUDITH CASS.

At a small tea yesterday afternoon at home in Lake Forest, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hixon announced the engagement of their daughter, Peggy, to Maurice Francis Hanson. The party was given ostensibly for Miss Peggy Clow and her fiancé, Burke Williamson, so that the news of the engagement came as a surprise.

Mr. Hanson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Francis Hanson of Chestnut Hill, Pa. Miss Hixon attended Miss Porter's school at Farmington, Conn., and Miss Schoff's school in Paris. She made her debut in 1933, and is a member of the Junior League of Chicago and the woman's board of St. Luke's hospital. Her fiancé is a graduate of Hill school and Yale university. He is employed in Chicago. The wedding will take place in the fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Hixon and their family are leaving the end of this week for their farm in Vermont, to be away until Labor day.

Guests to Fill Lake Geneva Homes for Golf Matches.

Lake Geneva homes will be filled with guests and busy with luncheon and dinner parties this week as the oldest match play invitational tournament in the United States, the forty-second annual invitation golf tournament of the Lake Geneva Country club, gets under way. The tournament, to be held Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, dates from the founding of the club in 1897.

Augustus K. Maxwell, president of the club, has announced that as usual the Henry H. Porter family cup will be awarded to the winner of the first flight. Members and their guests are eligible for this trophy, which was won last year by George F. McLaughlin. A tournament on Saturday for the Gen. Gordon Strong cup is open to members only, and was won in 1938 by L. B. Hamlin Jr.

On the tournament committee are Daniel Peterkin Jr., who is the chairman, and Sangston Hettler.

Flying Trip with Son Takes Secretary Away.

Lawrence H. Whiting, secretary of the club, always has been active in the affairs of the tournament. He will not be here for the play this week, however, due to a promise he made his son, Larry Jr., during the latter's serious illness last year. The promise entailed a flying trip to whatever destination the boy desired, and accordingly Mr. Whiting and Larry were off on Friday by plane for San Francisco.

They are spending three days at the fair, and then will go to Santa Barbara to be guests of the John J. Mitchells. Their return flight will be made by the southern route, enabling them to pause for a visit at the Arizona Desert school where Larry and his horse will take up quarters in the fall.

During the absence of her father and brother, 9 year old Barbara Whiting is entertaining her uncle and aunt, the Frank Whitings of Winnetka, and their sons, at Somerset, the Whiting summer home in Lake Geneva.

Shop Makes Smart Clothes Available for Small Women

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Small women in the past may have been unable to find sufficiently mature styles for their tiny streamlines. This situation has been changed. There's a brand new shop where they haven't anything hanging about except suits, coats, fur coats, and ensembles in sizes 9 to 15. Not a single outfit has a suspicion of infantile simplicity. Even the price tags have been marked for small budgets.

Some of the snappiest tweeds ever used for smart street outfits are featured in this new collection. Skirts are smoothly cut and short enough to assure the minimum of alteration. The jackets will make fashion history and sales records . . . for they are as individual in detail and silhouette as anything in the sophisticated models from size 34 to 38 . . . unusual pockets, careful attention to seaming, bands, unusual fastenings, and amusing buttons.

Every costume in the collection has been expressly designed for the small fashion wise woman. Fitted and scaled down to the smaller sizes, every bit of the snap and distinction of successful larger sizes has been skilfully repeated.

The hitherto neglected short but architecturally good figures are going to have a break . . . for in addition to the moderately priced things, there is the promise of dress parade outfits of dress and companion short fur coat, as well as stunning dress parade costume suits for early fall and winter wardrobes.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

Joan Blondell and Melvyn Douglas teamed together so successfully in "There's Always a Woman" that producers have gone about yenning to co-star the two in another picture.

Set your mind firmly enough on what you desire, and you'll get it, say the Upanishads. Cometh, then, "Good Girls Go to Paris," with Blondell and Douglas in the featured rôles.

To be stylish this season a movie SHOULD be either psychological or silly. "Good Girls Go to Paris" leans amiably silly-ward, showing a charming disregard for the conventional in comedies, and pleasing because of this tang of originality and some mighty good playing.

Joan Blondell as Jenny Swanson is discovered as a waitress in a college town. . . . The ambition of her life is to see Paris, and she diligently studies modes of remunerative blackmail as detailed in cases that make the headlines. . . .

Prof. Ronald Brooke, who patronizes the tearoom where she graciously distributes food AND makes tea "the English way" for him, becomes intrigued with Jenny and seeks to turn her thoughts to higher things. He succeeds in interesting her in—himself! Himself is engaged to another girl . . . a rich and well known damsel who, circumstances reveal, is in love with the son of her grandpapa's butler, a young medical student.

Both Jenny and the professor land in the Brand home, via happenstances the picture shall show you. A home which contains a frivolous Madame Brand who is running around with a gigolo, and a playboy son who owes gamblers money. But he would reform for the sake of the fair Miss Swanson, who also, without trying, soon has both grandpapa and the gigolo wound about her finger. . . .

[I guess that has you doing a bit of figuring?]

Looking at Hollywood

Good-bye To Vienna

SYNOPSIS.

An American girl and her Viennese sweetheart, Franz Gruenwald, in a café in Vienna hear a radio announcement of Hitler's entry into Austria. The girl, Marian Taylor, has been staying in Franz's home studying voice. Franz fears for his foster father, Prof. von Plasy, author of a recent anti-Nazi book. He refuses to flee the country and leave his wife, Gisela, and son Johann, who has the mind of a child. Leopoldine, a pro-Nazi woman surgeon, in love with Franz, warns him to send the American girl home. Von Plasy is taken off to jail to die from shock. In order to take Gisela's money out of the country to deliver to her friend, Herr Wiedermann, in Riga, Marian invests it in rare stamps. Herr Speyer, the stamp merchant, guesses her purpose, but is sympathetic and asks her to deliver a picture to a friend of his in Riga, a Mme. Sayonara Lonska. Franz loses his job. When Leopoldine secures one for him he accepts it for the sake of his dependents. In Riga Marian learns Herr Wiedermann is in love with Gisela and wants to arrange for her and Johann to come there. Mme. Lorska, she discovers, is a spy and that the picture from Herr Speyer was a message in code. Marian returns to Vienna. Gisela goes to Riga. She and Herr Wiedermann are married and he adopts Johann. Franz spurns Leopoldine's offer to be his mistress. Next day Franz is seized by the Gestapo. Leopoldine's brother, Karl, a Storm Trooper, intrigued by Marian's beauty, offers to help locate Franz, though she doubts his sincerity. He falls madly in love with her, though she tells him she can love no one but Franz. Marian sees Herr Speyer, who advises her to see Wilhelm Boehm, a head Nazi official, who would know Franz's whereabouts, but he turns her down. Marian appeals to and gains an audience with Boehm's wife. She gets no help but hears Frau Boehm mention Sayonara's name over the phone. Convinced that Herr Boehm is also a spy, Marian gains admission to see him again on pretext of a message from a friend in Riga.

INSTALMENT XLIII.

A DARING BLUFF.

Marian was watching the door so that she should not be caught unawares and betray her nervousness when it opened. Presently the brigade fuehrer entered and locked the door behind him. He was wearing a dinner jacket and looking less distinguished than in his uniform. He employed his usual technique of morale destruction—waiting in silence for her to begin to speak.

"Then I will outwait him this time," thought Marian. She sat down on one of the chairs. "How dare you sit down while I stand?" he barked in sudden ungovernable anger. This was reassuring. He had given himself away. Her message had frightened him. She opened her eyes and looked up into his two gleams of angry glass. "Since when has it been etiquette for a gentleman to demand such nonsense from a lady?"

His face worked. "I demand respect from you for my official position."

"Sit down yourself, Herr Boehm. I have something important to discuss. It's a waste of time to use this theatrical stuff on a citizen of a free country." Sensation poured over her skin in a great electric wave as her courage rose and went into action. "After all it rests with me as to whether you keep this official position."

The silence positively rung about them. "Have I really dared to say that?" she thought.

Boehm sat down in the other chair. She turned hers on its swivel in order to face him. He seemed to have gone white under his leathery, sallow skin, but she could not be sure.

"I can't believe my ears," he said at last, "unless, of course, I am dealing with another of these quite common cases of hysterical dementia."

She got up and moved toward the door, forgetting that it was locked and the key was in his pocket. "I can see I am wasting my time. That you have no heart whatever. Well, at least I can take a deal of pleasure in revenging myself."

That made him smile. "You think you would be allowed to get away to do that?"

Now for it. "It wouldn't be necessary. I'm young, as you can see. But I'm no fool. I've studied the methods of secret agents. If I were kept under restraint, an official investigation into your activities would almost immediately be set in motion."

He stared at her as if trying to assess her courage and intelligence. She stared back at him unflinchingly.

His manner changed. "Come back and sit down. Tell me what you have done so cleverly. It would very much amuse me."

Marian was glad enough to sit down again. Perhaps her scheme was not so clever. Perhaps his cynical cunning would find some disastrous flaw. However, now she had thrown herself into these deep waters there was nothing to do but swim.

"I mailed some letters by registered mail—the day before yesterday. Three are on the way to New York. One addressed to myself at my bank, one to my lawyer, one to my father. The inner envelopes of two of them are marked: 'On receipt of these, telegraph the American consulate and ask them to get in touch with me and reply by cable. If I am well and safe, destroy the letter unread. If not, please act upon the contents in the most drastic manner possible.' I thought the American consulate would be best because you could not intimidate them into sending false news. You could have made me write and protect those letters if you had me here."

"The day before yesterday," he repeated, tapping his fingers on the desk. "Now that's very peculiar—"

It was. All the same, she thought, her heart bumping so madly it seemed he must hear it, they'd go out on the mail plane this morning—they're out of reach of any possible interference.

"If you really sent them at all," he added. "The most peculiar thing about this affair," he said, still tapping on the table, "is that you had what you think is inside knowledge which can be used as blackmail when you first came to see me. Now why didn't you use it?"

"I don't have to give reasons for the way I act any more than you do."

She added, "I also telephoned Mr. Laing at the consulate to get in touch with me in the morning. I told him I was coming to call on you and, if necessary, he could get right ahead investigating my disappearance."

Herr Boehm jumped violently. "Gott in himmel, you are a madwoman! What in hell did he say to that?"

"He said, 'O. K., Toots. Do you want a military funeral?'"

Boehm put his head in his hands and rocked it from side to side. "Himmel, himmel, why do we have to tolerate these irreverent Americans?"

He did not deny any longer that he knew of Gruenwald's whereabouts. That affair had dwindled into insignificance before the intolerable fact that this chit of a girl had contact with a leak in the service or had somehow stumbled on a key to his hitherto wonderfully successful secret activity. It was the most galling thing that had ever happened to him.

"How do I know you'll keep quiet if you do get your lover back?"

Her passionate earnestness carried conviction to a man who trusted few human beings. "My word of honor. Nazi or communist—I don't care what you are! I only want to save my fiancé from this injustice——"

Then she was not in any espionage activity herself.

"Tell me," he added, his hands quiet and his working face suddenly relaxed, "how did you come to know—er, what you think you know?"

"I love to sit in cafés and read the papers. I have good ears. I listen to people."

"Ach, lieber Gott! There are fools who talk in cafés! It is not possible." His voice was suddenly like the bark of a dog. "Who were they?"

"Strangers," she said cruelly. "I don't know."

"And what did they say, may I ask?"

"Not very much. That you were in Russian pay and always had been. That you were secretly behind the communist party in Vienna while you were also in the secret National Socialist preparations. That now you were selling German military secrets to Russia. That you communicated your information to Moscow through a collector in Latvia called Sayonara."

"It is not true. It is vile, stupid, vindictive gossip! Nobody knows enough to whisper all you heard in a café. No one has ever heard that name. Where did you hear it?"

She got up. "Please let me go now. I'm dreadfully tired. If, as you say, this is merely gossip, you have nothing to fear from an investigation. It is I who have lost everything——"

WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER: All Set for the Grand Opening

Superb Soloists Brighten Two Park Concerts

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Two superb soloists brightened the week-end concerts at Grant park. Last evening Evi Wächter, 15 year old Viennese pianist, appeared with Henry Weber's W-G-N orchestra. On Saturday Emery Darcy, American baritone, sang to the accompaniment of the Rico Marcelli orchestra.

Smiling a friendly smile and looking pretty as a particularly pretty picture, Miss Wächter walked upon the platform of the lake front band shell last evening and won her audience before she had so much as touched the piano. When she did get around to touching it she carried everything vehemently before her in the opening bravura passages of the Liszt concerto.

In the piece's contrasting episodes she revealed a fastidious feeling for the shaping of a phrase, an excellent ear for tone colorings, and a clear, sparkling technique. Everything had confidence and a sense of direction. Each climax was cunningly prepared.

The impression that we had here to deal with no child prodigy but with a thoroughly competent musician was strengthened in the Liszt "Liebestraum" which followed. Any one who thinks that he is proof against this piece [as the writer did until last night], should hear this wonderful child glorify its outworn measures with countless delicate effects of color and tempo. Under Miss Wächter's effortlessly singing fingers the theme seemed not at all a second rate mammy song but an authentically fine musical idea.

In response to audience applause the beaming young pianist added an unfamiliar impromptu and Liadoff's "Music Box." Both pieces were done daintily and deftly.

Miss Wächter is one of those happy people to whom music comes as a natural language. She has amassed a technique which she uses merely as a means of communicating to an audience her excellent grasp of the music. We hope to rave some more about Miss Wächter when we shall have heard her in music of a more serious type than she essayed last night.

Because Mr. Darcy, too, kept his musical standards quite low, it is hard to get a completely adequate idea of what his powers may be. On the basis of the "Pagliacci" prolog, the "Toreador" song, and "Ol' Man River"—his three offerings Saturday night—one may say that he has a magnificent voice and that he knows the secret of effective singing. That is, he lets the feeling content of a song seem to find its own expression in exactly the right tone qualities, exactly the right effects of accent and tempo. His singing talked right out at you with directness and simplicity and power.

Ravinia Hears Rodzinski Lead 2 Fine Concerts

BY CECIL SMITH.

In his two week-end concerts at Ravinia Park, Artur Rodzinski, through his positive musicianship and his technical assurance, elicited from the Chicago Symphony orchestra some of the best playing of the entire summer. All this orchestra's work under Dr. Rodzinski is marked by a combination of enthusiasm and respect for his authority.

The most demanding work on Saturday evening's program — demanding upon musicians and listeners alike—was the Sixth Symphony of the Soviet composer Nicholas Miaskowsky, conducted here several times by Frederick Stock.

Dr. Rodzinski's approach to the score was most widely separated from Dr. Stock's in his treatment of the first movement. Keeping the rhythm moving with almost ferocious intensity, he accentuated the uncompromising dissonances, disdaining to broaden the more lyrical passages into the romantic feeling Dr. Stock discovers in them. Dr. Stock's performance points out the kinship of Miaskowsky's music to that of his Russian predecessors; Dr. Rodzinski makes it sound more austerely modern.

Aaron Copland's "El Salon Mexico," which both Dr. Rodzinski and the orchestra interpreted for the first time, sounded less exciting than its infectious Mexican rhythms ought to. There evidently had not been enough rehearsal time. It was soon forgotten, however, in the beautiful performances of three Johann Strauss items that followed. The ovation at the close of the concert was so insistent that Dr. Rodzinski and the orchestra repeated "Tales from the Vienna Woods."

Brahms' second symphony was the chief item on the Sunday afternoon program of staples. Dr. Rodzinski sees the symphony primarily as a melodic work, and makes little attempt to dramatize it. To its Viennese tunefulness he brings a discreet and polished sense of phrasing and rhythmic flexibility. It was all excellent except the slow movement, which lost focus as the conductor brooded over it a little too much, and failed to point up the formal relationships of the various sections by skilfully designed transitions.

Miss Marion Talbot Honored Tonight on Her 81st Birthday

Miss Marion Talbot, dean emeritus of women at the University of Chicago, will be honored guest at a birthday dinner tonight in Ida Noyes hall. It will be given by the Chicago chapter of the American Association of University Women. Miss Talbot is 81 years old.

A fellowship fund of $40,000 will be presented at the dinner in her name. Of that sum, $10,000 was contributed by the university women. Mrs. Mayme Logsdon, associate professor of mathematics at the university; Miss Helen Norris, personnel director of the Commonwealth Edison company, and Miss Ruth White, university representative, are in charge.

Miss Talbot was a pioneer worker for higher education for women. She was a principal founder of the Association of University Women.

Chorus of 40 Nuns to Sing at De Paul's Convocation

A chorus of forty voices, made up of nuns representing ten religious communities, will sing at the De Paul university summer convocation exercises at 10:30 a. m. Wednesday in the university auditorium. The chorus will be directed by Arthur C. Becker, dean of the De Paul school of music.

The Rev. Thomas Carroll Powers, C. M., vice president of the university, will confer degrees on 164 candidates. Thirty-six of these will get master's degrees. The address to the graduates will be made by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. J. Ambrose Murray, D. D., supervisor of religious communities for women in the archdiocese of Chicago.

ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. George Norman Murdock of Wilmette announce the engagement of their daughter Elizabeth to Robert Hereford May Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert May of Evanston. The wedding will take place on Aug. 10 at the Wilmette Parish Methodist Episcopal church and will be followed by a reception at the Shawnee club of Wilmette. Mr. May and his bride will be at home in Evansville, Ind.

Clean, Well Fed, and Cool Baby Will Coo Through Hot August

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Which baby is going to be the happy baby during the usually hot month of August—a joy to himself and his mother?

The answer is the baby who is kept as cool as possible, as comfortable as possible, as well-fed as possible, as rested as possible, and as free from illness [either slight or serious] as possible.

Proper feeding and general cleanliness are the two keynotes of summer care. Back of our summer ideal of immaculateness is the fact of germs. Because of this everything that goes into or on or near your baby must be clean. That means food, his drinking water, bottles, nipples, your breasts, his clothes, his bedding, and anything he plays with.

A cleansing soap and water bath once a day for baby is an actual sanitary essential. But for comfort in addition the baby's bodily temperature may be kept even in hot weather by additional sponges in tepid water.

In warm weather creases, big and little, of the baby's body have to be watched to prevent chafing and prickly heat. Careful drying and powdering help. The next point in cleanliness is in regard to diapers or napkins. When the baby is changed he should be washed off and powdered. Since flies and mosquitoes are disease carriers, as well as a source of annoyance to the baby, he must be protected from them.

Helping a Person Too Much Hurts Not Assists Him

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

When people are unappreciative, it is a sign that you are not really helping them. You are doing for them what they need to do—and actually want to do—for themselves.

When a wife scrimps along without clothes and slaves for a husband, he is likely to take her for granted. He may even neglect her for another woman who encourages his generosity. The spoiled child is ungrateful because he needs to do things for himself. The girl who is too much of a pal and insists on paying her own way deprives the man of the glory of feeling himself a benefactor.

The habit of receiving can be pretty deeply incrusted. You can't just turn around and demand returns. But try to figure out something—even the tiniest kindness—they have done for you and thank them. Thanking unappreciative people will encourage them in the joy of giving. They will begin thinking up things to do to earn more lovely thanks.

Jewish Big Sisters Hold Auto Outing Tomorrow

The Jewish Big Sisters will hold their annual automobile outing for 75 Little Sisters tomorrow. Mrs. Philip Weinstein's summer home at Kenosha, Wis., will be their destination. Mrs. Leslie B. Levin is in charge of arrangements for the trip, with Mrs. Harold Shilling assisting her.

'Way back in the days before refrigeration meat sauces were used as a coverup for not too fresh roasts. But there is no excuse for serving such meat in these days of scientific storage and fine home refrigeration, so meat sauces have no need to mask the natural flavor of the meat. Some of them are tangy or spicy, to be sure, but just tangy enough or spicy enough to bring out the best in the meat.

Horseradish Cream Sauce for Sliced Beef

1 cup whipping cream
1 tablespoon horseradish [more if you like]
1 teaspoon sugar
Salt, pepper

Whip the cream stiff and fold in horseradish and sugar. Add salt and pepper to taste. Serve with hot or cold sliced beef. Good also with sliced ham.

Brown Horseradish Sauce for Beef

2 tablespoons butter or meat drippings
1 teaspoon minced onion
3 tablespoons flour
1 cup meat stock, bouillon or tomato juice
3 tablespoons horseradish
Salt, pepper

Melt fat, add onion, and let cook for several minutes. Add flour, then brown, and stir. Add stock, bouillon, or tomato juice gradually, stirring constantly. Cook and stir until smooth and thickened. Add horseradish, then salt and pepper to taste, and a little more liquid if needed. Serve hot with hot or cold sliced beef.

Piquant Sauce for Roast Beef

2 tablespoons beef drippings
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup water
1 tablespoon vinegar
1 small onion, finely chopped
1 tablespoon capers
1 tablespoon chopped pickles

Blend flour and drippings, and allow the flour to brown well. Add water, vinegar, onion, capers, and pickles, and cook until thickened and smooth. Serve with rolled rib roast or other roast of beef.

Barbecue Sauce for Spareribs

1 medium onion, chopped
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons vinegar
2 tablespoons brown sugar
¼ cup lemon juice
1 small bottle catsup
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon dry mustard
½ cup finely chopped celery
½ cup water
Salt, pepper

Brown onion in butter and add other ingredients. Simmer slowly for 20 minutes or longer. Use to baste baking spareribs. Sufficient for three pounds of ribs. The ribs should bake an hour, uncovered, in a moderate oven, and the sauce should be added at intervals after they have browned.

Mustard-Jelly Sauce for Ham.

Curry Sauce for Veal, Beef, or Lamb

[Also good with fish]
1 cup medium white sauce
1 teaspoon minced onion
1 teaspoon curry powder
1 teaspoon lemon juice

Make the white sauce as usual by blending 2 tablespoons butter and 2 tablespoons flour, adding 1 cup milk, ¼ teaspoon salt, and a sprinkling of pepper, and cooking over low heat until smooth. Add other ingredients and serve hot.

Utilitarian but Attractive

WOMAN'S AND MISS' HOUSE DRESS.

Because a house frock is utilitarian in purpose doesn't necessitate its being drab. We've a pattern offer today you will like. It makes up attractively in all the inexpensive cottons, either plain or figured. The lines of the dress are long, on the princess order, and they're figure flatterers.

At the left, a dignified model with buttons down the front and V neckline trimmed with a contrasting lapel collar. The sleeves are quite full and comfortable. From the side panels there may be a self-fabric belt. Its presence in no way breaks the desirable long line.

At the right another version, with no belt, and with a high neckline that has a Peter Pan collar to contrast. This collar and the brief kimono sleeves both may have rickrack for trimming.

Style No. 2699 is designed for size 16, and for 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, and 48 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 3⅞ yards of 39 inch material, ½ yard of the 39 inch contrasting, and 2 yards of rickrack for the cap-sleeved version.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central station, NEW YORK CITY, inclosing 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Not so long ago we put a daisy of a problem up to a beauty salon. A woman we know whose normally attractive hair had gone completely haywire came shrieking for quick correction. She really didn't deserve to get it. First, she'd been ill. That alone had probably contributed a lot to the dry-as-dust hair. Following this she'd gone to a summer resort to recuperate. She just sat in the sun. She had abandoned her hair brush, and her shampoos were hit or miss affairs.

We asked her rather severely what she expected after such consistent hair neglect, but decided that it was the kind of a problem head we'd been looking for on which to try out a treatment that looked awfully good to us. We wanted to make sure that it was as good as it seems.

It was. Bar none, we've never seen such hair softening as this one treatment brought about. It's a honey, if ever there was one, for the hair that suffers the horrible fate of being badly permanented, overbleached, or just generally dried out.

It begins with a rousing brushing. Then a soap shampoo and plenty of rinsing. Then a back massage—with every bone, muscle and nerve in neck and shoulders getting its share of attention. Then—and this is the big trick—a cream oil is applied to hair and scalp and allowed to remain for fifteen mintes or more—depending on the operator's judgment. It's just massaged into the scalp and combed onto the hair, not steamed. Then this is washed out. It lathers nicely, it's rinsed out just as a shampoo would be—and the miracle hath been wrought.

Hair that was straw to the eye and the touch is soft and shiny as silk. Not bodiless, either. Just RIGHT.

For the head we had it used on it was a perfect treatment. Though we hate the word, we must say it was amazing. ELEANOR NANGLE.

Sally to Take Hundred Guests to Cubs' Game

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Tribune Charities, Inc.]

Any of you young men Cub fans like to see your heroes in action?

That's almost like asking if any one of you would please eat a double chocolate sundae, isn't it, boys and girls? The funniest part of it all is that I mean it. I'm really searching for youngsters to take to the ball game.

We've had a number of good parties this year and the one that's coming up is no exception. On Thursday, Aug. 10, the Chicago Cubs will play Cincinnati, and one hundred boys and girls will see that game with me.

Any child is eligible to try for an invitation, and here's how.

I want fifty boys and fifty girls who are real Cub fans and who'll have a grand time seeing this game. Just write me and tell me why you want to see the game.

This isn't like writing a composition—so don't worry about your spelling. Remember! You must write all the letter yourself. Be sure to tell me your full name, your address, and your age. Please don't ask for invitations for brothers or sisters or little friends. If they want to come, have them write their own letters and send them with yours.

All the mail will be judged next Thursday, and the names of the winners will be printed in next Sunday's TRIBUNE. My address is Sally Joy Brown, THE TRIBUNE, Chicago, Ill.

estates and at the Philip Wrigley place. In the hope of reviving interest in horses a horse show will be held at Delavan lake on Saturday. It is planned to hold the show annually.

An exhibition of children's horsemanship will be one of the features of the show. Bunny Hettler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hettler, will ride one of the Wrigley horses.

Baron and Baroness Rupprecht von Boecklin of New York have arrived at All View, the charming home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Armin W. Brand, on the south shore of Geneva lake. The baroness, who was formerly Jane Brand, and her husband will spend several weeks with the Brands.

Mrs. Taylor Strawn and Daughter are Guests.

Mrs. Taylor Strawn and her daughter, Miss Louise, whose summer plans will take them away from Lake Forest until about Aug. 20, were weekend guests of Mrs. Bartholomay Osborne at Lake Geneva. After a ten day stay in Desbarats, Ont., Mrs. and Miss Strawn will go on to Minneapolis to visit Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Weyerhauser.

The Kent Clows and their family have left for the Island club in northern Wisconsin for a short holiday. Miss Elise Clow and Burke Williamson are to be married on Sept. 9.

Mrs. Robert Bradley Whittlesey of New Haven, Conn., and her little daughter, Jane, have arrived to spend the rest of the summer with her brother and sister-in-law, the John Q. Magies of Wilmette. In two weeks the Magies and their visitors will leave for northern Minnesota, where they will spend a month before Mrs. Whittlesey and Jane return home.

Daughter Pays Visit to Mrs. Russell Lord.

Mrs. Russell Lord, who is spending the summer at one of the cottages of the Onwentsia club, has had a brief visit from her daughter, Mrs. William MacLingo Jr. of Texas. Her other daughter, Miss Kathleen, will return to Miss Masters' school at Dobbs Ferry in the fall.

Mrs. Evans Spalding and her son, Francis, have left for Amagansett, N. Y., where they will spend a month. They will be joined later by Mr. Spalding and little Camilla.

Mrs. Carl Zeiss and her daughters, Miss Josephine and Miss Eleanor, are spending part of the summer at Camp Wipigaki, near Lac du Flambeau, Wis. They have been joined by Henry Zeiss, who will enter his senior year at Princeton this fall. Miss Eleanor will enter Vassar, from which Miss Josephine was graduated last June.

Camp Wipigaki is also the summer haven of the junior William R. Odells, who will not return to their Lake Forest home before the middle of September. Others who have forsaken Winnetka for Wisconsin are Mrs. William S. Elliott and her daughter, Miss Lydia, who will have spent two months at their camp when they return in September.

Mrs. J. Hamilton Lewis Here for Month's Stay.

Mrs. James Hamilton Lewis has arrived from the south and will be at the Ambassador hotel until September. Early that month Mrs. Lewis will go to Del Coronado Beach, Cal., to visit her niece, Mrs. E. C. Ewen, and Lieutenant Commander Ewen, U. S. N., who is stationed there.

Mr. and Mrs. James H. Winston of Evanston and their son Albert have returned from a five week trip to Cashiers, N. C. Their daughters, Miss Virginia and Miss Laura, are at camp in Maine, where they will spend the remainder of the summer.

Mrs. David Bell Peck and her son, David Bell Peck III., will arrive tomorrow from Bermuda, where they have been spending a month. Mr. and Mrs. Peck and young David have taken a cottage at the Onwentsia for the rest of the summer.

For the fourth time this summer garden lovers of Chicago and the North Shore will meet at 10:30 o'clock today at the Deerpath inn in Lake Forest to hear Mrs. Annette Hoyt Flanders discuss landscape gardening. As usual, the afternoon will be spent in visiting the Lake Forest gardens which Mrs. Flanders planned.

Many a contract is lost merely because the declarer feels that "with all those tricks in his hand" there is no chance of things going wrong. This, of course, always follows a superficial analysis but, surprisingly enough, even experts are guilty in this connection.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 heart	Pass	4 hearts	Pass
Pass	Pass

It took considerable restraint on South's part to pass to North's four heart bid, but actually, of course, the pass was eminently correct. South's three and one-half honor tricks hardly could be enough for a slam, in view of the fact that North's immediate jump to game denied possession of more than two honor tricks.

Perhaps South went at the play with the feeling that, since he had thought wistfully about a slam, there was no great need for care at a mere game contract. Whatever his feeling, he found that some of the most "solid looking" hands can turn on their holders and bite them.

West opened the jack of clubs. Declarer won in his own hand, drew trumps in two leads, then cashed the club ace. He then led to the diamond ace and exited with his remaining diamond. East won and made a magnificent return — the deuce of spades! East had carefully observed declarer's tactics, and was quite ready to believe that the diamonds and clubs really were stripped from the South hand, as well as from dummy. If that were so, then West had started out with five diamonds and five clubs. He had shown two hearts, therefore could have held only one spade. If this were the spade ace [and South had the king], it would do no good to lead the queen through the closed hand because declarer [if he played correctly] would not cover the first spade lead, and the blank ace would fall. This, however, would not be the worst thing that could happen. The really important point was that West might have the blank king, as he did.

It will be observed that if East had made the persuasive and "normal" play of the spade queen, declarer could not have gone astray. On East's actual lead of the deuce, however, declarer became careless and wrecked himself. He went right up with the ace. After that there was no way to avoid the loss of three tricks to East's Q-J-10 of spades and these, in addition to the diamond already taken by the defenders, defeated the contract.

While East's play of the spade deuce deserved full credit, it could not have succeeded if declarer had been on his toes. There was nothing to gain by putting up the spade ace on the first lead of the suit and, as we have seen, there was a great deal to lose. If the spade suit broke 3-2, the contract would be safe, no matter how declarer played, but a 4-1 break is by no means extraordinary and, when provision can be taken against it, it is only logical that it should be taken. Declarer should have ducked on East's spade lead, cheerfully conceding the trick to West. On winning with the blank king, West would have had to return a diamond or a club, on either of which declarer could discard a spade from one hand while ruffing in the other, then concede only one more spade trick to the defenders.

The Housewife

Is one of your favorite pastimes arranging cut flowers from your own summer garden? If it is and if you grow the simpler type of blooms such as zinnias, nasturtiums, pinks, and asters, you'll want one of the new artistic rustic baskets. Made of natural brown reed, woven, it looks like the children's baskets of our grandmothers' day, and it has a tin container made to fit exactly.

This basket comes in several sizes and is perfect for garden flowers. It is not expensive.

Shopping Trip Exposes Faults of Silhouette

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Shopping for frocks not only gives you the inspiration for new clothes, it also inspires you to check up and do something about your figure faults. Whether you are buying a vacation outfit or cheering yourself with a new costume after your holidays, trying on dresses is revealing.

Many a woman eats sweets and starches happily unaware that she is gaining pounds. Probably she tells herself her clothes have shrunk in cleaning. But let her go to a shop and attempt to get into her usual size 14. After she humbly slips into an 18, she will go home and forgo dessert.

That frock that looks so slim and lovely on the model may remind a girl that she ought to stand up straight. When every gown you fancy simply refuses to go over your hips, it is time to exercise. An exposé of your chest bones by a beautiful evening gown may be the shock that starts your arms rotating to build up your neck muscles.

To any one who "can't be bothered" standing straight or doing exercises or dieting, we recommend a shopping tour.

Beautify your hands while you sleep! How to do it properly is told in Antoinette Donnelly's booklet, "Handmade Hand Beauty." Get a copy today. On sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower. Price, 5 cents. Postpaid, 7 cents.

Shoulderette in Cluster Stitch Easy to Crochet

BY ELLEN BRUCE.

Receiving callers after a period of illness is sheer delight, especially when one is attired in one of the new lightweight shoulderettes. Crocheted in a fascinating cluster stitch, with finest zephyr or two ply saxony yarn, these jackets are not only dressy but offer necessary protection to all invalids. Peach, soft yellow, pink, sea foam, green, or blue, this jacket may be worn also when one is comfortably ensconced in bed for an evening's reading.

For instructions in crocheting the shoulderette in cluster stitch, No. X-238, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 5th avenue, New York City.

Vacation Threat— Summer sun and drying winds dry up the natural oils of your scalp. If you want your hair to stay beautiful, protect it with 'Vaseline' Hair Tonic.

FOR BEAUTY'S SAKE AVOID DRY SCALP

DRY Scalp can't spoil your summer if you protect your hair with 'Vaseline' Hair Tonic. It supplements the natural scalp oils, gives to your hair a new softness and gloss. For lovely hair and waves that last longer, do this: BEFORE EVERY SHAMPOO, massage the scalp well with plenty of 'Vaseline' Hair Tonic. If possible allow it to remain on the hair overnight. AFTER EVERY SHAMPOO, rub on a few drops before setting the wave.

GOV. HEIL LEADS STUHLDREHER ALL-STAR CAMPAIGN

PROCLAMATION ASKS VOTES FOR BADGER COACH

State-Wide Drive Opens Today.

Madison, Wis., July 30 [Special].—Gov. Julius P. Heil today joined the thousands of Wisconsin sports enthusiasts in supporting the election of Harry Stuhldreher as the Western conference representative on the coaching staff which will prepare the college All-Stars for their game with the New York Giants in Soldiers' field, Chicago, the night of Aug. 30.

Gov. Julius P. Heil.

In an official proclamation, the governor designated tomorrow as Harry Stuhldreher day and urged "all citizens to observe that day by participating in the nation-wide poll and casting their votes for Harry Stuhldreher for head coach of the college All-Stars."

Gov. Heil yesterday cast his own vote for Stuhldreher, whom he calls the "greatest coach in the country." Meanwhile, votes for the popular Wisconsin athletic director and football coach were pouring in here from all parts of the state. The voting was particularly heavy in Madison, where ballots have been placed in nearly all of the business establishments and voting booths have been set up along State street, principal thoroughfare between the capitol and the university, and around capitol square.

They All Want Harry.

"Put Stuhldreher over as head coach of the All-Stars" is the slogan used by press and radio throughout the state as Wisconsin sports fans rally behind the former quarter back in Notre Dame's famous four horsemen back field.

The governor's proclamation asserted that the "citizens of Wisconsin and the supporters of our state university are especially interested in this game because of the fact that "our own Howard Weiss of Fort Atkinson has been selected in a nation-wide poll as the No. 1 full back on the college All-Star and because Lynn Hovland of Bloomer has been elected to the squad as a guard."

He Knows the Game.

"The success of the college team and Weiss hinges considerably upon the generalship, strategy and technical knowledge of the head coach and his staff," the proclamation continued. "We in Wisocnsin are fortunate in having in Harry Stuhldreher the qualifications demanded of the man who shall be elected to head the college stars' coaching staff."

Joseph [Roundy] Coughlin, veteran Madison sports writer, went on the air here Friday night with Madison business men in supporting Stuhldreher for head coach of the All-Stars. Henry J. McCormick, sports editor of the Wisconsin State Journal, is conducting a campaign for Stuhldreher in the south central part of the state after a three day swing through northern Wisconsin.

League of Nations Polo Team Defeats Hurricanes

Westbury, N. Y., July 30 [Special].—The League of Nations, with the Texan George Oliver and the Australian Bob Skene playing excellently, took the national twenty goal polo championship at Bostwick field this afternoon by defeating the Hurricanes, 15 to 9.

IT WASN'T THE WHALE—

that sent the three little fishes fimmin' back over the dam. It was a sudden reminder that they hadn't purchased their tickets for the All-Star game between the College All-Americans and the New York Giants, world's professional champions, Aug. 30, in Soldiers' field.

And maybe you don't want to be bossed, either, but mama knows best and she's been down to the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn and in the lobby of Tribune Tower, to get tickets. Of course, she could have sent a money order made payable to the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., to the All-Star Ticket Manager, Tribune Tower.

PARKER DEFEATS DON M'NEILL FOR SEABRIGHT TITLE

Seabright, N. J., July 30 (AP).—Frank Parker of Pasadena, Cal., won the Seabright bowl today by defeating Donald McNeill of Oklahoma City, 6-3, 8-6, 6-0, in the final of the fifty-two year old tennis tournament.

McNeill, 21 year old Kenyon college junior, put up a good fight for two sets against the machinelike play of Parker, who is two years his senior, but in the third set he wilted. The tourney was regarded a major test for players who hope to make the Davis cup team.

Helen Bernhard of New York, 18 year old national girls' champion, captured the women's singles title with a 6-3, 7-5 victory over Dorothy Workman of Los Angeles.

Parker and McNeill joined forces to win the doubles bowls, beating Wayne Sabin and Gene Mako, 61, 6-1, 4-6, 6-3.

Alice Marble, national champion and a recent victor at Wimbledon, teamed up with Adrian Quist, the Australian Davis cup player, to win the mixed doubles final from Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabyan of Brookline, Mass. and Elwood T. Cooke of Portland, Ore., 6-1, 3-6, 6-3.

In a series of brilliant races, many of which were decided by less than a yard, five boys and five girls raced through the 100 yard course on the north side of Navy pier yesterday afternoon to add their names to the ten year old record of the meet annually sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.

Jeannette Colley. Class E winner.

Arthur Eberling. Class E winner.

One hundred and seventeen youngsters from four states entered the competition. They had won qualifying medals last week-end. This morning ten of these contestants are possessors of gold championship medals. Others received silver and bronze medals, the prizes in each of the finals.

Medinah Girls Keep Title.

The Medinah club successfully defended its team championship in the girls' division. The Medinah girls, taking firsts in classes C and D, and a third in class E, scored thirteen points to defeat the Lake Shore Athletic club, whose swimmers won titles in classes B and E. Lake Shore, however, retained the boys' championship trophy, scoring nine points. Three teams tied for second place. Lake Shore took the class C championship and finished second and third in class D.

Yesterday's championship races were preceded by twelve semi-finals in six of the ten age divisions. The program, however, was finished in sixty-five minutes. The first event started promptly at 2 o'clock. The north side of Navy pier was banked with spectators.

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

JIMMY CROWLEY, Fordham gridiron coach, says Syracuse and Penn State will be the most improved teams in eastern football this season. . . . Cornell will have another strong squad, he predicts, but he doesn't see a championship eleven at Yale, Harvard, or Princeton. . . . Crowley has shifted Curley Lambeau's 200 pound son from full back to tackle. . . . Add preparedness notes: Members of Midlothian Country club, who will conduct one of the finest golf tournaments of the year as an anniversary tribute to Walter Hagen on Aug. 24, 25, 26, and 27, have dug deep into the records to make sure those dates would bring good weather. . . . They found that for the last sixty-seven years that four day span never has brought more than a tenth of an inch of rain. . . . Times certainly have changed, to coin a phrase. . . . In the early days of baseball the umpire called rival teams into action with a polite, "Play ball, gentlemen." . . . Charley Gehringer, playing his fourteenth full season with the Tigers, has a lifetime batting average of .327 in regular competition and .377 in world series. . . . Bert Bell, coach and owner of the Philadelphia Eagles, recently was asked why collisions between football players do not result as seriously as between baseball players. . . . "Football players are taught how to fall," was Bert's reply, which may be the correct answer. . . .

Z. G. Clevenger, Indiana's athletic director, is spending his seventh straight vacation in the mountains of North Carolina. . . . Bernie Bierman of Minnesota will be tied up for the next month with summer coaching schools. . . . Tom Stidham, Oklahoma football coach, predicts there will be 3,000 Oklahomans in the stands when the Sooners play Northwestern at Dyche stadium Oct. 7. . . . Advance ticket sales indicate a capacity crowd for the Notre Dame-Purdue game at South Bend Sept. 30. . . . Herb Hash, Minneapolis pitcher bought by the Red Sox for spring delivery, is the answer to the sports head writers' prayer. . . . Al Wolff, Santa Clara tackle, who will be a member of the All-Star squad, turned down an offer from the Chicago Cardinals because of a promising future in the engineering field. . . . Roberto Ortiz, Cuban pitcher, who was sent to the Senators' Charlotte farm with orders from Clark Griffith that he be converted into an outfielder, is breaking down the fences in the Piedmont league.

Golf Whys.

I guess I'm dumb. Please tell me why
The golf pro tells a right hand guy

Insist a right hand player's blow
Should be a left hand backhand swing.
An obviously silly thing.

So I submit my stance should be
On port side starting from the tee,
And hence my right arm, being stronger,
Controls the shot and makes it longer.

What flaws in this? [There may be some.]
Please tell me why. I guess I'm dumb.
—Tom Scoville.

SOX LOSE, 4-3, TO UMPIRE; DEFEAT YANKS IN 2D, 5-1

Kolls Halts Chicago Rally in First Game.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 30.—Thornton Lee gave the Yanks a splendid dose of left handed pitching skill this afternoon to enable the White Sox to win the second game of a double-header, 5 to 1, their first success of the year in Yankee stadium. The ice breaking might have taken place in the first game, which Ted Lyons lost, 4 to 3, if the Yankees, aided in amazing fashion by Umpire Lou Kolls, had not snuffed out a ninth inning rally which produced all the Chicago runs.

Lee, in registering his ninth victory of the season, and his first over his one-time New York cousins, had a shutout until the eighth. In that inning Pinch Batter Bill Knickerbocker reached first on Jackie Hayes' bad throw and after two were out, scored on DiMaggio's single, the seventh and last Yankee hit.

Teddy Has Bad Luck.

Lyons was trying for his eleventh victory, but took his third defeat in the first game. Ted's trouble, aside from the error of Kolls, which was booed by most of the 35,256 New York fans, was in his pitching to George Selkirk. Twinkle Toes drove in all the Yankee runs with two homers.

On their eastern trip to date, the Sox have won three games by the lopsided scores of 8 to 1, 12 to 7, and 5 to 1, but haven't been so hot in the close ones. They have lost five, all by a margin of one run, 3 to 2, 6 to 5, and 6 to 5, in Boston, and 2 to 1 and 4 to 3 here.

FIRST GAME

The White Sox, aided by Gomez's weariness and Johnny Murphy's wildness, put on a stirring rally in the ninth inning of the first game after being very meek most of the time previously, and might have won by several runs, but for a blunder by Umpire Kolls.

Going into the ninth the Sox were losing, 4 to 0. George Selkirk had knocked his sixteenth homer with two on in the second and he had added No. 17 with none on for all the runs off Lyons. Lefty Gomez and the Yankees had held the Sox to a blooper single by Kuhel in the first inning, a single by Appling in the seventh, and a double by Kuhel in the eighth.

Radcliff Starts It.

Radcliff opened the ninth with a single to right. Steinbacher bounced a double play ball to Gordon, but Crosetti dropped the ball, Radcliff reaching second and Steinbacher first. Appling walked, loading the bases. McNair caromed a hot single off Rolfe's glove, Radcliff scoring and the bases remaining loaded.

Murphy replaced Gomez and Marcum batted for Tresh. Marcum walked, forcing Steinbacher home. Bejma ran for Marcum and Kreevich batted for Lyons. Kreevich sent a grounder to Crosetti, who fell on his hands, recovered after several seconds, then tossed to Gordon. Apparently everybody in the vast park thought Bejma had arrived long before Crosetti's toss. Yankee customers in the parts of the stands presenting the best view of the play led in a tremendous booing carnival for the umpire.

Hayes tried to put on a squeeze play to put McNair over, but missed the ball and McNair was out. Hayes then went out on a roller, Dickey to Dahlgren.

SECOND GAME

The Sox started the second game with three runs. With one out in the first inning, Kuhel singled to right and Rosenthal walked, after which

CHICAGO GOLFER BREAKS PAR BY EIGHTEEN SHOTS

Picard's 275 Takes Second Place.

St. Paul, July 30 (AP).—Dick Metz of Chicago, who gave up his job as an oil field chemist thirteen years ago to experiment with golf, drilled his way to a rich championship gusher in the seventy-two hole St. Paul Open today.

Dick Metz.

The handsome professional, with the hottest streak of golf in the ten year history of the tournament, fired rounds of 68—66—68—68 for a total of 270 strokes, one shot under the old mark set by Harry Cooper in 1935 and eighteen strokes under par. His aggregate, which won him $1,600 first money, was the lowest seventy-two hole score of the year for P. G. A. sponsored events.

Birdies Final Hole.

Metz, who faded on the final round of the western open a week ago, turned on a champion's finish today to make the tourney his own runaway. Five birdies and one eagle three marked his morning round 68, and this afternoon, with several stars ready to close in if he faltered, he won going away. He needed a birdie on the final hole for a new mark and went for it gamely, reaching the green in two and getting down easily with two putts.

Henry Picard of Hershey, Pa., the P. G. A. champion and year's top money winner, finished second at 275, with final rounds of 69—69. A stroke back at 276 was Lloyd Mangrum of Los Angeles, with cards today of 67—70. Big Ed Dudley of Philadelphia was fourth at 277, winding up with a final round 69 after a morning 66, six under par for the Keller course.

Wehrle Leads Amateurs.

Wilford Wehrle of Racine, Wis., captured low amateur honors with 72—67 today for a 278 over the three day battle. He was tied by Ray Mangrum of Oakmont, Pa., who had closing rounds of 71—68.

WALTERS, REDS BEAT PHILS, 9-2; WIN SECOND, 5-1

Myers' Homer with Bases Filled Decides Second.

Cincinnati, O., July 30 (AP).—Billy Myers lived a baseball player's dream today when he caught a one-one pitch for a home run in the ninth inning with two out, the score tied at 1 to 1, the bases loaded, and 30,298 fans filling almost every square foot of the ball park.

The stocky Cincinnati shortstop sent the ball over the left field wall to give the Reds their second straight double-header over the Phillies and their tenth consecutive victory. The score was 5 to 1. Bucky Walters won a 9 to 2 decision over his former team mates in the opener, his eighteenth victory of the year and his eighth straight.

BEES, 7; PIRATES, 5.

Pittsburgh, Pa., July 30 (AP).—A barrage of cushions thrown by rain soaked and disappointed fans brought a lively end to a baseball double-header today after the Boston Bees had stung the Pirates 7 to 5 and were leading in the second game. Because of the state law prohibiting baseball after 6 p. m. Sunday, the second game was called before a batter had been retired in the opening half of the fifth inning, with the Bees leading, 5 to 3.

Tigers Win Two from A's, 14-0 and 5-3

Philadelphia, Pa., July 30 (AP).—Freddy Hutchinson, Detroit's high-priced rookie pitcher, won his first major league baseball game today as the Detroit Tigers swept a double-header from the Athletics, 14 to 0 and 5 to 3.

Hutchinson was knocked out in the eighth inning of the second game, but received credit for the triumph. Dizzy Trout, who replaced him, yielded only two hits in 1⅔ innings and left five A's stranded on base.

BACHMAN FINDS ALL-STARS ARE EASY TO COACH

Credits Co-operation for Fine Playing.

BY CHARLES BACHMAN.

[Head football coach, Michigan State college; assistant coach, All-Star team, 1935.]

East Lansing, Mich., July 30.—The national polls to choose the All-Star football squad and the staff of college coaches who will direct these men against the New York Giants in Soldiers' field, Chicago, on the night of Aug. 30, soon will be completed. As this is written we are having real summer weather in East Lansing, but the weather is no hotter than interest in this splendid promotion.

Charles Bachman.

Since I served on the coaching staff for the 1935 All-Star game and also because several of my players at Michigan State have taken part in this annual game, I have made the following observations which I believe will be of interest.

Make New Friendships.

The chance offered for nationally prominent players from all sections to meet for a three weeks' training period and to become acquainted is one of greatest benefits of these games. Many may meet again on the gridirons of the professional league. It may be years before others renew acquaintance, but the friendships formed will be one of the fine memories football has presented these boys.

Members of the All-Star squad have played under a number of coaches during their college careers. They have played various systems of football. But through participation in the All-Star game all receive benefit of new ideas, see how others accomplish the same purposes on attack and defense, and, in brief, round out their knowledge of football.

Introduces New Features.

At the 1938 All-Star game during the second half the Washington professional team utilized a five man line on defense. This defense was widely used by both college and high school teams last fall. And the highly colored uniforms used by football teams today trace their origin back to the uniforms worn in the 1936 All-Star game.

Strange as it may seem, the players selected on these All-Star squads are not temperamental prima donnas. They are easy to handle, smart, alert, and carry into the All-Star game the enthusiasm of college sophomores.

We at Michigan State are looking forward with great anticipation to this year's game because we hope to see John Pingel and perhaps a few more of our seniors play against New York.

GERMANY BITTER OVER DEFEAT IN DAVIS CUP PLAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, July 30.—German sports enthusiasts were bitterly disappointed today when news came from Zagreb, Jugo-Slavia, that its tennis team had been eliminated in the final round of the European zone Davis cup trials. Jugo-Slavia, by winning two singles matches today, took the series, 3 to 2 and qualified for the inter-zone final next month in the United States.

At the same time it was announced that Germany had rejected an invitation from the United States Lawn Tennis association to send a team to compete in the American championships in Forest Hills, N. Y.

Monarchs Win Two from American Giants, 4-2, 6-2

The Kansas City Monarchs yesterday took a double-header from the Chicago American Giants, 4 to 2 and 6 to 2, to sweep a three game Negro American league series.

Ray Richards Triumphs in Riverview Midget Feature

MOON MULLINS—A FRIEND IN NEED

FER PITY SAKES! HOW WAS I TO KNOW THE LADY YOU WAS WITH WAS MRS. J. WALLINGFORD CLIP?
IF YOU HAD WAITED UNTIL YOU WERE INTRODUCED BEFORE YOU STARTED PULLING HER HAIR YOU WOULD HAVE, EMMA.
WELL, YOU COULD EXPLAIN TO COL. CLIP THAT I THOUGHT HIS WIFE WAS A FLIRT OR SOMETHING, AND OFFER HIM OUR APOLOGIES.
THAT WOULDN'T DO NO GOOD, PLUSHIE. I TOOK A POKE AT A PAL YESTERDAY AND WHEN I WENT AROUND TO TELL 'EM I WAS SORRY, HIS OLD MAN CHASED ME AWAY.

Pacific Coast Team Breaks Swim Record

Des Moines, Ia., July 30 (AP).—The American women's 300 meter medley relay record was broken twice today by a trio of swimmers from the Los Angeles Athletic club.

The "A" tear. of the Pacific coast club, composed of Edith Motridge, Esther Williams, and Virginia Hopkins, won the national A. A. U. medley title in 3:52.8, 8.8 seconds under the old national mark set by the Women's Swimming association of New York in 1936. The same team also broke the old mark in the preliminaries, swimming the distance in 3:58.

Marjorie Gestring of Los Angeles, Olympic three meter board diving champion, dethroned Ruth Jump of the Los Angeles Athletic club, the defending champion, in the ten meter board diving event. Miss Gestring won the national A. A. U. title with 41.62 points.

Nancy Merki, 13 year old star from the Multnomah Athletic club of Portland, Ore., broke another record when she won the 800 meter free style in 11:19.9. The old mark, 11:33.3, established by Katherine Rawls Thompson in 1938, was 13.4 seconds slower.

300 METER MEDLEY [FINAL]—Won by Los Angeles A. C. "A" team; second, Multnomah A. C. Portland, Ore.; third, Women's Swimming association, New York; fourth, Los Angeles A. C. "B" team; fifth, Olneyville Boys' club auxiliary, Providence, R. I.; sixth, Lakeside Civic club, Louisville, Ky. Time, 3:52.8 [new American long course record, old record of 4:01.6 by Women's Swimming association, New York, in 1936].

PLATFORM DIVING [FINAL]—Won by Marjorie Gestring, unattached, Los Angeles, Cal., 41.62 points; second, Ruth Jump, Los Angeles Athletic club, 38.75 points; third, Margaret Reinhold, Lakeland, Fla., 38.13 points; fourth, Shirley Condit, Detroit A. C., 34.52 points; fifth, Helen Crlenkovich, Fairmont hotel, San Francisco, 32.35 points.

A. A. U. CHAMPIONSHIP 800 METER FREE STYLE—Won by Nancy Merki, Multnomah A. C., Portland, Ore.; second, Mary M. Ryan, Lakeside Civic club, Louisville, Ky.; third, Ann Hardin, Lakeside Civic club; fourth, Gloria Marie Callen, Women's Swimming association, New York; fifth, Mary Anne Hansen, Multnomah A. C. Time, 11:19.9 [New American record. Old record, 11:33.3, set by Katherine Rawls in 1938.]

The Fourth Street Lift.

If I rode up the Fourth street lift
A dozen times a day,
I couldn't ever pass through the old turnstile
Without a little stay
To pause once more and look again
On the thrilling scene below,
A scene unmatched for beauty
Anywhere I know,

The river drifting idly past
On its way to the timeless sea,
A symbol of life that is passing thus,
The old cathedral tower looms up
Against the verdant hill,
While in the distance a lonely tomb

The old familiar shot-tower
With its tale of other days,
The mound of Sinsinawa
The old town in the valley
The picture's foreground fills—
Nestling in its circlet
All around are forests green
Like a bit of lovely Arden,
Lies Mr. Evans' garden.

If I rode up the Fourth street lift
A dozen times a day,
I'd have to pause for one more look
Before I went my way;
For every hour the shifting lights
O'er the river and the hills,
Paint a brand new picture

MARQUART PITS PUNCH AGAINST RINALDI TONIGHT

Billy Marquart, Winnipeg, Man., puncher who is listed as No. 8 lightweight contender by the National Boxing association, will put his hard hitting on display tonight in a ten round bout with Johnny Rinaldi, New York junior welterweight, in Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street.

Marquart will be after his eighteenth knockout in thirty-four bouts. Among his victims in this manner are Joey Alcanter, Orville Drouillard, Roger Bernard, Lloyd Pine, Jimmy Buckler, and Al Manriquez.

Rinaldi, an in and outer, is given a chance to score an upset because he also has a hard wallop. This asset helped him defeat Bernie [Schoolboy] Friedkin, highly regarded eastern boxer, in New York May 16. Believing the setback was a mistake, Friedkin's handlers demanded a rematch and Johnny made it two in a row over his rival.

In addition there will be contests of four rounds involving George Kontopolis and Johnny Balmer, Billy Seward and Eu Eulien, and Al Tibbits and Russell Nyberg.

Pick 100 Yard Chicagoland Swim Winners

tors and hundreds more watched from the upper decks. Spectators had an excellent view of the course between barges, the best accommodations ever arranged for the championship events.

Fastest 100 yard race of the afternoon was Otto Jaretz's victory in the title class for boys 17 and 18 years old. Jaretz was timed in 58 3-10 seconds, winning the gold medal by a yard from Steve Grimm. Robert Amundsen received the bronze medal in this race.

Class E Boys Final Close.

The Class E final for boys was the closest finish of the afternoon. Four swimmers came to the barge at the east end of the pier abreast. From the pier it scarcely could be discerned amid the flashing arms of the contests who would win. Arthur Eberling defeated Peter Stasiak for first place by a fraction of a second, his hand touching the board just before Stasiak's. Lynn Surles of Northwestern university, and Harold Henning of Lake Shore, finished almost in the same stroke. Surles was awarded third place after a consultation by the judges.

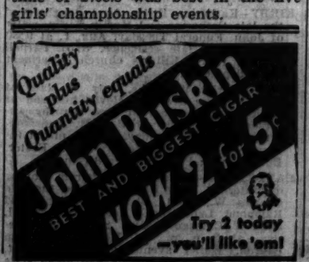
Joe Durkin of the Peoria, Ill., Country club, after winning his preliminary race in Class A, came through with a victory by three feet over Al Delvento. Pete Elliott, Bloomington, Ill., Country club, was the winner of the second semi-final. Durkin's championship event time was 1:17.2.

Patsy Carberry Wins Easily.

Patsy Carberry, St. Charles, Ill., Country club, won the class A girls' championship easily. She finished six yards in front of Vivienne Fleissner, Park Ridge, and Theo Ann McGuire, Oak Park, who fought it out for second position. Miss Fleissner received the silver medal.

The class C final for girls 15 and 16 years old was the most evenly contested in the series of five. Betty Harrison of Medinah; Barbara Ramser, Shawnee Country club, and Mary Alice Werner of Joliet finished in that order with less than a yard difference in the three medal positions. Miss Werner had won the second semi-final while the new champion had taken the first preliminary event in this class. The champion's time was 1:14.

Mary Jane Wichser of Medinah won in class D easily, while Francoise Rose, winner in class A last year, swam to her second victory, this time in class B. In the girls' class E championship race, Jeannette Colley of Lake Shore defeated Betty Wyle of Medinah by a yard. Miss Colley's time of 1:08.8 was best in the five girls' championship events.



MILLS WIN TWO FROM OHIO TEAM; SPENCERS DIVIDE

The Mills won both games of their double-header with the Middleton, O., Greys in Mills stadium, and the Spencer Coals split in two games with the Gary Giants in Spencer field in semi-pro games yesterday.

The Mills won the first game, 13 to 5, and the second, 11 to 4. The Coals won the first game, 7 to 4, and Gary the second, 7 to 3.

Chicago Cricket Team Wins 8th League Game

Lake Shore, 68; Oak Park, 51.
Washington Park, 91; River Forest, 42.
South Park, 98; Hyde Park, 67.

RISING SUN POLO TEAM WINS FROM TWIN CITIES, 8 TO 6

The contest was tied four times. Rising Sun took the lead in the final period for the first time when Chuck Aaberg scored on a free hit from the 40 yard line. Harry Owen Jr. clinched the game by carrying the ball half way down the field for a goal.

GIRL FINDS HER REAL MOTHER AFTER 26 YEARS

A Death Reunites a Pair Adversity Parted.

BY DORIS LOCKERMAN.

A mother and her daughter, who had been separated for twenty-six years—ever since the daughter was 6 months old—were getting acquainted last night in Evergreen Park. They are Mrs. Edward C. Manthey, 3221 West 96th street, and Miss Helen Stephenson of Trenton, Mo.

One said: "This is worth all the waiting." And the other: "Words can't express my feelings."

Child Wife Gives Up Baby.

Twenty-six years ago the mother, then 16 years old, placed her baby in an orphanage at Normal, Ill., for adoption after she and her husband separated. Nine years later she married Manthey, a coal dealer, and they sought word of the girl.

Several months ago they learned through the orphanage that Helen had been adopted by N. E. Stephenson and his wife of Trenton. Two years ago Stephenson died, and when Mrs. Stephenson died last month, the orphanage officials wrote the girl telling her of her real mother, whom she had believed dead. The Mantheys wrote to her immediately, urging her to come to them.

Find They're Much Alike.

She arrived yesterday, a frail, eager girl, with her mother's blue eyes and brown hair. Her mother knew her instantly, and Manthey said they are exactly alike. Their handwriting is almost identical. They like the same food. [Mrs. Manthey had cooked a chocolate cake, feeling sure her daughter would share her preference for it.]

The years were bridged easily. Helen, still slightly tense and nervous, had not yet decided whether she would accept the Mantheys' offer of a home. Her friends, her foster relatives, and her job are in Trenton.

"But," she said, "my mother and my new father are here. And I'm afraid I could never be happy again without them."

Granduncle Served at Fort Dearborn.

James F. Porter, member of a Chicago family dating back to Fort Dearborn, and owner of several loop properties, died yesterday in his home at 1085 Sheridan road, Hubbard Woods, after an illness of two months. He was 68 years old.

Mr. Porter engaged in the management of various buildings in Washington street, Madison street, Wabash avenue, and Wells street, all in the loop.

The family fortune was linked with Chicago's early history. It was founded by Mr. Porter's granduncle, Amos Foster, and his grandfather, Dr. John H. Foster, a surgeon from New Hampshire.

Lieutenant Buys Land.

Amos Foster was a lieutenant at Fort Dearborn. Far sighted, he purchased some town lots when Chicago was incorporated. Their value leaped quickly.

When Lieut. Foster died, he left the lots to his brother, Dr. Foster. Dr. Foster developed the property and became immensely wealthy. He was a member of Chicago's first school board. Foster avenue and the Foster school were named for him.

On Dr. Foster's death, his fortune went to three daughters, one of whom was Mrs. Julia Foster Porter, wife of the Rev. Edward C. Porter, an Episcopal clergyman, and mother of Mr. Porter. She died in 1936 at the age of 90. She left Mr. Porter her trust estate. She had given him some loop land outright during her life time.

Native of Racine.

Mr. Porter was born in Racine, Wis. He was graduated from Harvard in 1895. He was a student of the sciences and architecture. In 1898 he married Ruth W. Furness. His widow, a daughter, and four sons survive.

The daughter is Mrs. Nancy P. Straus of Washington, D. C., wife of Michael W. Straus, former Chicago newspaper man and now chief of public relations for Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes. The sons are Dr. Eliot F. Porter of Cambridge, Mass.; Edward C. Porter of Chicago, who engaged with Mr. Porter in property management; Fairfield Porter of Hubbard Woods, an artist, and John F. Porter, a teacher, of Bronxville, N. Y.

SECOND BODY WASHES ASHORE.

The body of a young man was washed ashore at Pine beach, four miles east of Gary, yesterday. Coast guardsmen said it probably was that of Edward Peacock, 18 years old, 6743 State street. Peacock and Harry Howell, also 18, of 423 East 69th street, drowned July 14. Howell's body was recovered Saturday.

CHICAGO BANK OFFICIAL DROWNS WHILE ON OUTING

Maurice R. Grey, 38 years old, vice president of a safety deposit company affiliated with the Central National Bank, 728 Roosevelt road, drowned yesterday in Lake Michigan at Sheridan Beach, Ind., where he had gone for a vacation with his wife and two children. Grey lived at 1643 North Spaulding avenue. He apparently was caught in the strong undertow. His body was recovered by Al Dunn of 1434 South Spaulding avenue, Robert Greengoss, and Marshall Greenfield in two feet of water on a sandbar twenty-five yards from shore. Funeral services will be held at 3 p. m. tomorrow in the chapel at 2235 Division street. Burial will be in Waldheim cemetery.

Walter Goodyear Is Dead; Grandson of Inventor

New York, July 30 [Special].—Walter Goodyear, a grandson of Charles Goodyear, inventor of the vulcanizing process for rubber, died of a heart attack here tonight. He was 73 years old.

BRAINS OF ANIMALS DEAD MILLIONS OF YEARS ARE RECREATED

A means of studying the inside of the skull of a fossil animal dead millions of years, in order to find out what kind of a brain it had, has been developed at the Field Museum of Natural History by Assistant Curator Bryan Patterson and Assistant James Quinn of the museum's division of paleontology.

The technique makes use of liquid rubber, which is poured into the brain cavity of the fossilized skull, rolled about, and drained. After the application of about four coats of rubber it is allowed to dry. Then it is pulled from the cavity intact. The rubber cast is then filled with plaster to retain its shape, while molds and permanent plaster casts are made. The molds sometimes show even the details of cranial circulation.

The method is described in an article in the August issue of the Field Museum News, monthly bulletin.

3 CONCERTS END FOREST VESPERS; 100,000 AT SERIES

The three last summer choral concerts sponsored by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE and the Cook county commissioners were given in the forest preserves yesterday. Officials estimated that 100,000 music lovers heard the series of twenty-one concerts amid the beauty of the trees.

The Embury Methodist church choir, directed by Mrs. Hazel Filson, sang in Dan Ryan woods. The Thatcher woods concert was given by the Greater West Side Choral guild, directed by Miss Bessie Ryan. In Caldwell woods the Bethel Male chorus, led by William C. Anderson, sang.

The 1,000 members of the choruses which sang in the series have all answered in the affirmative questionnaires asking if they wished to give concerts next summer.

NEWS OF FINANCE AND COMMERCE

GUARANTY BANK LASHES 'SPEND' BILL, TAX LOAD

Enterprise Stifled by Rules, Is Charge.

New York, July 30 (AP).—The Guaranty Trust company said today that government "investment" as proposed in the lend-spend bill before congress ultimately would tend to "substitute a form of state capitalism for the traditional American system of private business enterprise." Guaranty is one of the leading Wall street commercial banks.

It said that plans such as the pending bill rest on the apparent belief in some quarters that business cannot get the funds it needs. It challenged this view.

Assails Restrictions.

"All the available evidence indicates that existing private credit agencies are fully capable of supplying all the legitimate needs of business," the bank said in its monthly business survey.

"The failure of credit to expand is attributable not to the inadequacy of the present financial system but to the burdens and restrictions on business concerns and investors that have, in many cases, made the outlook for profits too uncertain to attract capital into productive investments.

Tells Banks' Problem.

"Banks cannot lend except to businesses whose credit standing and earnings prospects make it reasonably certain that the loans will be repaid. Investors will not risk their funds without some assurance that the debtor firms will be able to put the money to profitable use and that, once the profits are earned, the investors themselves will be left in possession of the bulk of the returns.

"These indispensable bases of investment have been seriously impaired by taxation and regulation of business in recent years."

STOCK MARKET LOWER AT END OF QUIET WEEK

New York, July 30 [Special].—Stocks moved in a small price range last week, closing fractionally lower in most cases. A few leading issues were hammered down 1 to 3 points. Trading quieted down, sales for the six days, totaling 5,063,450 shares, comparing with 7,537,970 the preceding week.

The narrow price movements contrasted sharply with the swift upturn of the preceding week. So far this month, however, the gain in stock values has been the largest for any month since June, 1938, and the second best for July since 1932.

June Losses Recovered.

The reverses suffered in June were more than recovered, with the level of prices being brought back approximately to that prevailing at the middle of March. Trading increased substantially in July, with transactions going over the million share mark in six sessions after July 15.

The action of Bethlehem Steel in resuming dividend payments on its common was a surprise, but failed to help the steel stocks. United States Steel dropped 1⅝ points, Bethlehem gave up 1⅞ points, and Youngstown slipped a large fraction.

On Monday the stock list closed irregularly lower, and on Tuesday it finished uneven after erasing early gains.

Low Priced Shares Active.

Prices closed fractionally higher Wednesday and were up a bit Thursday. Friday's closing was irregularly lower and the decline was continued Saturday.

A development of the week was the prominence of some low priced shares. Columbia Gas and Electric, Studebaker, Electric Power and Light, and United corporation, all selling at less than $10 a share, finished in the first fifteen most active stocks and were higher.

Motor shares were off fractions to more than a point despite the favorable General Motors earnings report.

Business Bits

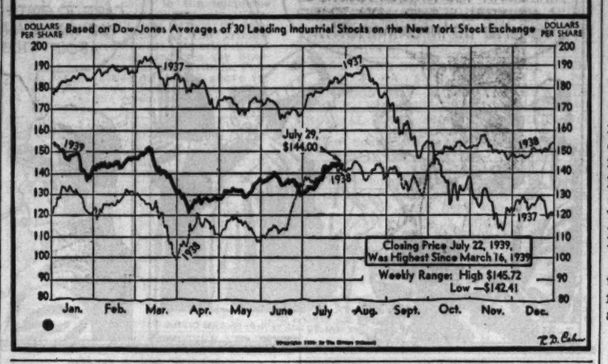
T. E. Shea has been elected vice president of Electrical Research Products, Inc., the company announced yesterday in New York. Shea, formerly of Bell Telephone laboratories, succeeded H. G. Knox, who resigned on the advice of his physician.

J. C. Happenny, formerly treasurer of the Central Illinois Public Service company, has been elected president of the Oklahoma Power and Water company to succeed R. W. McClure.

L. G. Miller, sales manager, was elected a director of Checker Cab Manufacturing corporation at the annual meeting of stockholders. He replaced W. A. Norgensen.

Col. Wilfrid G. MacCarthy was re-elected president of the Chicago Television and Research Laboratories, Inc., at the annual meeting of stockholders. Charles R. Esson was re-elected secretary and treasurer.

Average Daily Closing Prices of 30 Industrial Stocks



Investors' Guide

Monday, July 31, 1939.

[Copyright: 1939: By The Chicago Tribune.]

NOT TOO HIGHLY.

How does Wisconsin Power and Light 7 per cent preferred stock rate as an investment?—D. V.

Dividends on Wisconsin Power and Light 7 per cent preferred stock, $100 par, are being paid at a reduced rate, and have been, starting with 1933. The stock is cumulative, with arrears at the present time amounting to $21.68½ a share. Two payments of $1.31¼ each have been made this year.

In four of the last six years earnings have been less than dividend requirements on the 7 per cent preferred. The stock is not rated as of good investment grade.

ASSUMED AND SOUND.

I hold an Allegheny Valley railway mortgage bond, due in 1942 and paying 4 per cent interest. These bonds are assumed by the Pennsylvania railroad. What does that mean?—D. C.

When one company purchases control of another company and guarantees payment of principal and interest on the company's bond these bonds are said to be assumed by the purchasing company. The Pennsylvania has assumed and is responsible for interest and principal payments on the bonds of Allegheny Valley.

This issue enjoys a sound rating. It is secured by a first lien on about 265 miles of trackage which is extremely valuable to the Pennsylvania. Since 1934 the bonds have consistently sold above par.

SPECULATIVE.

Dividends on Canada Dry stock fluctuate rather widely, giving it little appeal from the standpoint of a person who wishes steady income. Payments were omitted entirely in 1936 and 1937. Last year 25 cents a share was paid. No declarations have been made so far in the current year.

Speculative elements are dominant in the stock.

VERY SMALL CHANGE.

There is no market for the common and preferred stocks. The class "A" is quoted nominally at 5 cents a share.

WORLD'S WHEAT SUPPLY TO SET NEW HIGH MARK

Estimated Far Above Normal Needs.

The world will have more wheat available for use in the 1939-'40 season than ever before, government estimates indicated last week. The bureau of agricultural economics tentatively set the available supply, not including that of Russia and China, at 5,290,000,000 bushels, or about 100 million bushels more than the record established by the 1938-'39 supply.

The bureau, which is a division of the department of agriculture, said the current available supply is about 1,450,000,000 bushels in excess of the average apparent disappearance for the ten preceding crop years.

Wheat Supplies Compared.

Figures on the available supply of wheat and the apparent disappearance for the last ten years, as estimated by the bureau, follow [in millions of bushels]:

	*World's crop.	Carryover.	†Total.	Apparent disappearance.
1939-'40	4,090	1,200	5,290	.....
1938-'39	4,571	615	5,206	4,006
1937-'38	3,863	539	4,441	3,826
1936-'37	3,578	766	4,348	3,809
1935-'36	3,602	952	4,583	3,817
1934-'35	3,561	1,193	4,756	3,804
1933-'34	3,848	1,144	5,026	3,833
1932-'33	3,876	1,043	4,936	3,792
1931-'32	3,877	1,046	4,993	3,950
1930-'31	3,894	943	4,949	3,903

*Excluding Russia and China. †Includes exports from Russia, if any.

Wheat prices dropped last week to the lowest levels in about six years, but later recovered part of the lost ground. Reports of serious damage to the spring crop in the American northwest and Canada were credited with causing the rally.

Other Grains Decline.

Corn, oats, and other grains sagged. Corn sold at the lowest prices since 1933, partly in reflection of prospects for a large crop. No. 2 yellow corn sold as low as 30 cents a bushel at country elevators in central Illinois.

Hot and dry weather has impaired the prospective yield of corn in some areas, but little damage was reported for the principal corn producing states. There the crop has passed the pollination stage. This is the period of growth during which the pollen from the corn stalk is fertilizing the ear through the silk shoots that are sent out from each kernel.

Pollination Depends on Weather.

The pollen grains in the tassel ripen before the silk appears on the plant. Extremely hot weather may dry up the tassels before the silk appears and pollination not take place.

Threshing returns on oats indicate the 1939 American yield will be light. Cash oats sold last week as low as 17 cents a bushel in parts of Iowa.

INTEREST IS CUT ON FHA INSURED HOME FINANCING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 30.—Interest rate reductions on home financing insured by the Federal Housing administration were announced today by Administrator Stewart McDonald from San Francisco, Cal., through his headquarters here.

Notices are being sent to more than 12,000 banks, savings, building and loan associations, and other private lending institutions informing them that beginning Aug. 1 the maximum interest rate on mortgages committed for insurance by the FHA on small homes will be 4½ per cent, a reduction of ½ per cent from the present 5 per cent maximum.

The maximum rate on mortgages on large scale rental projects, limited by law to $5,000,000, will be 4 per cent, a reduction of ½ per cent.

At the same time Jesse Jones, federal loan administrator, informed McDonald that the Federal National Mortgage association and the RFC Mortgage company would buy FHA-insured mortgages at the reduced rate at par and accrued interest from lending institutions.

QUARTER PROFIT OF SCOTT PAPER UP TO $795,080

The Scott Paper company, Chester, Pa., yesterday reported that its profit in the quarter ended July 1 was $795,080, equal after preferred dividend requirements to $1.16 a share on its common stock. This compared with $743,627, or $1.18 a common share, in the corresponding period last year, which was prior to the issuance of the preferred stock.

Tampax, Inc., reported a net loss of $19,470 in the quarter ended June 30. In the second quarter of 1938 it had a $27,432 profit. Six month profit this year was $40,471, or 13 cents a share, against $36,642, or 12 cents a share, in the first half of 1938.

61 Pct. in Poll Oppose Force in Unionizing

Washington, D. C., July 30 (AP).—The National Association of Manufacturers reported today that 61 per cent of the persons polled in a recent national survey were opposed to compulsory unionization of workers.

This, the association said, compared with a 57 per cent expression of opposition recorded by a similar poll two years ago.

The question concerning unionization was: "Should every worker be forced to join a union." These, the association reported, were the replies:

No	57	61
Yes	23	20
Sometimes	9	11
Don't know	11	8

Vote on Who Has Done Most.

Classifying the replies the association said that factory workers registered a 50.7 per cent opposition in 1939, as against 40.7 per cent in 1937. This, the association added, "was interesting because it has been in the factory that the greatest high pressure efforts at unionization have been made."

To the question, "Who has done most for the United States in the last ten years," 24 per cent of those interviewed gave credit to manufacturers, the association said. Other groups and the percentages of "votes" they received were:

Industrialists, 14 per cent; merchants, 11 per cent; bankers, 10 per cent; labor leaders, 9 per cent; political men, 7 per cent; social reformers, 6 per cent, and "don't know," 32 per cent.

Bankers Gain in Favor.

It was explained that the above total aggregated more than 100 per cent because some persons listed more than one group.

The association added that the favorable attitude of the public toward bankers had increased 5.3 per cent since 1937, 2 per cent toward merchants and manufacturers, and 0.7 per cent toward industrialists. On the other hand, the report continued, reformers, labor leaders, and politicians fell back a total of 13.2 per cent in public favor.

5 MONTH RECORD FOR AERONAUTIC EXPORTS IS SET

Aeronautic exports in the first five months of this year established a record for the period at $38,247,054, the magazine Steel said yesterday. This was an increase of 31 per cent over the 1938 period.

"Shipments are expected to show further gains during the remainder of the year as builders speed up deliveries on foreign military bookings," the survey said.

It said that licenses were granted in June for shipment to France of $13,000,000 in airplane engines, and that delivery of 215 attack bombers to the French air ministry will get under way immediately.

MR. MANUFACTURER:

Do you have a West Coast Branch Office or Factory? If you have a good sound product, sold industrially, I'd like to talk to you.

I've been with an Eastern manufacturer for the past 10 years: 3 years as Export Manager, and the past 7 managing sales in the Great Lakes area. Altho not "high-pressure," I can gain loyalty from men under me, and know how to land permanent accounts for you. My record is clean progressive, and open to your investigation.

I am 37 years old, 6 feet tall, weigh 195 lbs. Married, have daughter 12. Income for past 3 years has averaged $9,000 annually.

VOICE PROOF PRIVACY

Some apartments, like porches that open onto the street, hold no secrets. Voiceproof privacy is just one of the many advantages enjoyed by our tenants. Five room apartments even have a special corridor that places them as much apart from the world as the high fence and spreading lawns which give secluded exclusiveness to great estates.

Chicagoans Range the Wide World at Brookfield Zoo—2 Die in Boat Tragedy—Swimming Meet Held

Two tigers explore their barless grotto at the Chicago Zoological park at Brookfield. The zoo has bars only where they are necessary, and animals are separated from visitors only by deep moats. Zoo officials attempt to keep the animals under conditions that approach native environment.
